Reds Rip Hole In Center Of Allied Line; Threaten To Wipe Out Vast U.N. Gains

Worse Before It Gets Better

DiSalle Forecasts Another 5 Or 6% Boost In Prices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle, the government's price director, said today he expects the general price level to go up another "5 or 6 per cent, or even more", before some degree of stability is achieved, probably about midsummer.

"I am in complete disagreement with some of the economists who say that maybe in five months we'll have a three-point rise," Mr. DiSalle said. "I think it's going to be higher than that.

"I'd be tickled to death if by June or July we would begin to see some results of stability. I'm no optimist about what is going to happen."

As he expressed this view in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U.S. News And World Report, growing dissatisfaction with progress of the economic stabilization program on the part of big segments of organized labor piled up new headaches for him and wage control officials.

Mr. DiSalle indicated that his Office of Price Stabilization will move as rapidly as it can to supplant the initial price freeze, at peak levels in the Dec. 19-Jan. 25 period, with specific regulations for each industry.

At present, he said, there is "a very real freeze, but the longer we keep it that way the more some people are going to be hurt by it". He added, however, that the time when most fields can be covered by specific orders is five or six months away.

He said, as he has before, that he believes the most effective type of price control fair to both business and consumers is one which fixes profit margins. He said he is thinking of allowing each industry to pick its own profit margin, based on some period before the outbreak of the Korean war, and allow it to add that to its costs.

At the same time, he said, he anticipates "some pretty good rollbacks" of prices in particular fields, especially in basic materials.

Mr. DiSalle said his office has not yet been given authority to ration goods or have rationing books printed, and he added:

"Right at the moment supplies seem to be ample in all fields and we don't anticipate the need for that at the moment. Meat might be the first item we would have some trouble with."

He said subsidies to producers may be advisable to keep down prices of a few commodities like copper, but said that subsidies on food costs "might involve some opposition on the (Capitol) Hill".

Mr. DiSalle also appealed indirectly to industry to forego high profits in the effort to hold the price line.

"I just hope that we can some way sell business generally on the idea that this is a good time to build up consumer relations," he said, "that maybe they could change their prices a little bit and give the consumer the benefit of it rather than to give it to the government in the form of excess profits taxes."

2 Lose Lives In Separate Car Wrecks

Pennsylvania Woman And Mahoning Man Victims Of Accidents

A Pennsylvania woman and a Mahoning County man were killed in separate district accidents early Sunday morning—both in Pennsylvania.

Burton E. Miller, 31, of New Springfield, near East Palestine, died instantly when his auto sideswiped a gasoline transport truck at 4:30 a. m. yesterday on Pennsylvania Route 51, about 50 feet from the Ohio state line.

Mrs. Inez Hoffman, 36, of Bentleyville, Pa., was pronounced dead on arrival at City Hospital after her auto plunged off icy Route 168 over an embankment near Laughlins Corners at 5:15 a. m.

The Imperial Barracks of the Pennsylvania Motor Police said Mrs. Hoffman apparently lost control of her car on the ice-covered Mill Creek hill.

Her passenger, Ronald Hott, 26, of Canonsburg, was treated at the hospital for a minor head cut.

John Gould, 38, of New Springfield was admitted to Salem City Hospital with a serious neck injury. He was a passenger in the auto with Mr. Miller.

A mechanic, Mr. Miller was born June 27, 1919, a son of Erbin and Louise Hartman Miller. He was a veteran of World War II and was a member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church and Veterans of Foreign Wars post at New Springfield and the Moose Lodge at East Palestine.

He is survived by his parents, and a sister, Mrs. Edith Welsh, of New Springfield, and two brothers, Clarence Miller of Columbiana, and Albert Miller of New Springfield.

Services will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Van Dyke Funeral Home in East Palestine by Rev. C. C. Gartner of New Springfield. Burial will be at New Springfield Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight from 7 to 9 at the funeral home.

New Yorker Hurt In Chester Area Mishap

A New York autoist, Louis Heinnades, was treated at City Hospital Saturday at 7 p. m. for a lacerated left foot received in an accident on Route 30, about three miles east of Chester.

Melvin Brown of New York City was driver of the auto.

Man Hurt When Car Is Forced Off Highway

Matthew A. Sesar of Ft. Dix, N. J., is in "fairly good" condition at City Hospital with contusions of both knees, left elbow and hand received Saturday near noon in a mishap on Route 30 near East Liverpool.

He said his car was forced off the crowded highway.

Stratton Woman Hurt In Wellsville Mishap

Wellsville police reported Josephine Abdella of Stratton received minor injuries when her car skidded on ice Sunday morning about 4:45 on Clark Ave. and crashed into utility pole.

She was treated by a Wellsville physician. The front end of the car was damaged considerably, police reported.

City Has 6 Mishaps; Woman Pedestrian Hurt

A woman pedestrian was the only casualty in a string of six week-end traffic mishaps in East Liverpool.

Mrs. Elsie Rohr, 214 Peach Alley, was treated at City Hospital Sunday at 3:34 a. m. for bruises of the left shoulder she said were suffered when struck by a hit-skip car while crossing Walnut St. at East Fourth St.

Most of the collisions were blamed on icy streets.

Two parked cars were damaged today at 4:34 a. m. at Jefferson and West Seventh Sts. in a freak mishap blamed on the thaw.

Three Possibilities In Korea

American Forces Appear Ready To 'Hold That Line'

By HAL BOYLE, Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 12—What will happen next in Korea? These are the possibilities:

1.—A counter-attack may throw back the enemy and stitch the damaged Allied line.

2.—The Allies may slowly pull back both ends of their line to a defensive position farther south.

3.—The Reds may sweep on through and sweep west to try to cut off the American forces or sweep east and try to cut off the South Korean divisions.

The third possibility is a real peril, but it is unlikely to happen. The American army in Korea today is under orders to save itself no matter how critical the situation becomes. It will withdraw rather than stand and be destroyed. So will the South Korean army. And both armies have sufficient mobility to escape the hordes of Chinese foot troops—if they move in time.

But the American Eighth Army is committed to the killing of as many enemy troops as possible. It will stand as long as it can. And unless its South Korean allies wilt clear across its right flank, it may not have to withdraw very far. Why?

Because the American forces are stronger than they have ever been. They are now prepared to defend the United Nations line in depth. They have reserves to throw in. And those reserves are placed where they can do the most good.

The Chinese have to carry most of their supplies on human backs or in slow ox carts. They cannot well attack down the eastern part of the Peninsula because that would stretch their primitive supply line too far and lay it open to the attack of naval guns offshore.

They had to come down the western roads—Seoul to Taejon to Taegu to Pusan—or down the center of the peninsula. The limited offensive in the western sector by the heavy-gunned American divisions shattered them there.

That left only the central corridor for them to drive down. The American Second Division late last month broke up their first attack in this zone at Wonju. Now they have hit again at Hoengsong, a few miles north of Wonju.

This second Red offensive was expected by Lieutenant General Matthew B. Ridgway, commander of the Eighth Army. He has been preparing for it.

If the enemy breaks completely through the first Allied defensive screen of South Korean troops, it will be hit—if it hasn't already been hit — by full-strength American divisions playing the role of roving fullbacks, backing up the line.

They have both manpower and firepower. And if the Marines are among them—as well they may be—they have a few old scores they are aching to settle with the Chinese.

The Americans are in a strong

70,000 Seen As Figure In Troop Fight

Yanks-For-Europe Issue To Go Before Group On Thursday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The figure 70,000 emerged today from the growing controversy called the "great debate". Some senators say they think military plans call for that many additional U.S. troops in Europe this year. The lawmakers added, however, that Congress may kick the military plans awry.

They based their opinion, they said, on an impression gained from General Omar N. Bradley and others that congressional approval of ground force aid for Europe would involve sending about four additional divisions there.

The troops-to-Europe issue will come before the Senate foreign relations and armed services committees Thursday. General Bradley, chairman of the join chiefs of staff, and Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall are scheduled to testify.

In the meantime, the debate roared on on Capitol Hill and in other forums across the nation.

Democratic Senator Douglas of Illinois took a leaf from the Republicans' book and brought the example of Abraham Lincoln—whose birthday is observed today—to bear on the situation.

Mr. Douglas said the free world stands today in a situation comparable to 1861, when Lincoln stood firm against the further extension of slavery.

And in today's stand against the spread of Communist tyranny, Mr. Douglas said, the western European countries will not have the sense of hope they need unless they feel "the United States is standing beside as well as behind them".

He took part in the Meet Your Congress program broadcast by WINX, Washington, and other radio stations.

In a Lincoln Day speech at Lincoln City, Ind., Senator Capehart of Indiana expressed a Republican view when he said Mr. Truman's move to send U.S. troops to western Europe's defense violates the spirit and purpose of the Constitution as Lincoln saw it.

Senator Morse (R) of Oregon, appearing on the same program with Mr. Douglas, said the United States has a moral obligation to send troops for Europe's defense and must live up to that obligation. He added, however, that Congress should have the say about "implementing" the North Atlantic pact before sending "any large body of manpower to Europe".

60,000 Foes Hit 7 Miles In Offensive

Troops At Seoul And Over Parallel Periled If Enemy Rolls On

BULLETIN

KOREA, Feb. 12—A South Korean patrol which stabbed five miles into North Korea Sunday withdrew four miles today after a Communist counter-attack.

TOKYO, Feb. 11 (AP)—Chinese and Korean Reds rammed a dangerously deep wedge today into Allied lines on the mountainous central Korean war front.

They launched a savage counter-offensive shortly before Sunday midnight with 60,000 troops and hit throughout today in mounting fury along a 30-mile line.

By late today, the Reds had smashed a wedge seven miles deep in the Allied line southwest of Hoengsong. They also had caved in South Korean forces at a number of other points and cut off some Allied units.

American officers are striving desperately to rally the South Koreans.

The Reds are fighting hand-to-hand with Allied defenders in the key road center of Hoengsong. One and a half miles south of Hoengsong, the Communists have set up a roadblock. A Red column is sweeping toward that area to cut the Hoengsong-Wonju road.

Field dispatches said the situation is confused and serious.

The Communist counter-offensive—a typical maneuver launched at night with massive forces at the weak point—threatens to wipe out the big Allied gains of the last 18 days in the central sector.

On the western front, the Allies had swept Saturday into Seoul's industrial suburb of Yongdungpo, its big airport at Kimpo and its seaport of Inchon.

The South Korean capital division on the east coast rolled north across the old Parallel 38 border Sunday and captured the coastal town of Yangyang, five miles deep in Red Korea.

But the four or more Allied divisions massed around Seoul in the west and the South Koreans inside North Korea on the east coast could be forced to pull back for their lives unless the Communist smash in central Korea is stopped.

On the central front, the Reds are attacking Hoengsong from three directions. Hoengsong is 10 miles north of Wonju, the road center where the U. S. Second Division, with French support, smashed an earlier Red drive that permitted the Allies to launch their own offensive Jan. 25.

From Hoengsong, five Allied columns have thrust from six to nearly 12 miles in a fan-shaped drive west, north and northeast of the town.

The Red offensive wiped out most of these gains and threatens to crumple the whole center of the 150-mile Allied line across Korea.

4 Known Dead In New Alpine Avalanches

12 Others Vanish; Villages Swamped In South Switzerland

AIROLO, Switzerland, Feb. 12 (AP)—At least four persons perished and 12 others disappeared today in renewed avalanches in Alpine Europe. Rescue workers have dug 10 other persons from the buried wreckage of their homes.

Hardest hit is southeast Switzerland, where avalanches—started by heavy snow—swamped two villages during the night.

At least four persons were killed by a slide which crashed down on this village at the southern entrance of the St. Gotthard tunnel. Six other persons still are buried beneath the snow and feared dead.

At Frasco, a tiny hamlet 20 miles north of Locarno, rescuers dug out 10 of the 16 persons—half the population—buried by a giant avalanche. In the village of Tschamutt, a hotel and several houses were destroyed by a mile-wide slide, but no casualties were reported. Scores of other villages in southern and eastern Switzerland are being evacuated under army orders.

Avalanches, landslides and flooded rivers, meanwhile, tied up traffic in various parts of northern Italy. The hardest hit Italian area is Monferrato, in Piedmont, where rivers overflowed their banks and flooded homes in Nizza, Monferrato and Canelli. Large wine stocks were damaged in Canelli.

A landslide at Cervinia isolated some 700 skiers who had gone there for the week end, but none of them was reported in danger.

In southeast Switzerland, continuous snowfall renewed the threat of slides in the section where 75 persons were killed by avalanches in a single week end last month.

Huge Backlog Being Tackled As Rails Roll

Last Of Switchmen Resume Work Before Saturday Deadline

By The Associated Press

The nation's rail traffic is back in high gear, cleaning up the huge backlog of freight cars that were stalled by the "sick call" walkout of about 12,000 switchmen.

Faced with a government threat of get-back-to-work-or-be fired, the last holdout switchmen were on their jobs Saturday before the 4 p. m. deadline allowed them.

Along with the ultimatum, however, the Army, in technical control of the nation's carriers, granted the workers a pay boost. Switchmen and yardmasters were given a 12½-cent-an-hour increase in pay and trainmen in road service five cents an hour.

But the wage increase left the men far short of what they had asked and only about half the amount they had rejected when they walked off their jobs Jan. 30 and 31. The union is asking a 40-hour work week at their old pay for 48 hours.

An Army spokesman in Chicago estimated the railroads will need about two weeks of warm weather to catch up in deliveries of shipments that were left stranded in terminal yards throughout the nation.

It Costs $10,000 A Year To Support One Fighting Man

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—When it comes to the cost of upkeep, the man in uniform rapidly is catching up with the blonde in mink and pearls.

The next time you see a G.I. walking along the street, you can say to yourself: "There goes a man it takes $10,000 a year to support" On the average, that is.

And the same goes for the lads in blue, green and gray—officers and enlisted men alike.

The figure is based on information the Defense Department sent to the armed services committee.

Senate Group To Act In Draft Bill Tuesday

19-To-25 Would Go Before Those 18 In Proposed Program

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Senate supporters of the administration plan to draft 18-year-olds into a universal military service and training program made a new bid today for bipartisan backing.

"This is a permanent, long-term program and I think it is the most carefully-prepared draft bill ever presented," Chairman Johnson (D) of Texas of the Senate preparedness subcommittee told a reporter.

And Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, top-ranking Republican member of both the preparedness group and the full armed services committee, said:

"Generally speaking, I think this is as fair a bill as we could turn out. There may be some slight changes made in it, but I do not expect too much senate opposition."

Chairman Russell (D) of Georgia of the 13 member armed forces group sent out notices for a closed-door committee session Tuesday to act on the measure.

Approving appears certain because the seven senators who voted for subcommittee approval of the program form a majority in the full committee. Senator Morse (R) of Oregon cast the lone negative vote in the subcommittee.

Senator Johnson (D) of Colorado, who is opposed to sending any drafted youth below 19 overseas or into combat, said the group "did a fairly good job on the bill". But he added:

"I still am going to keep pushing for a definite restriction against sending any draftee overseas before his 19th birthday."

As the Senate bill now stands, it would require that all men in the draft manpower between 19 and 25 be called before any 18-year-olds were taken. Then those nearest their 19th birthday would be called ahead of younger 18's.

The bill also would extend service from the present 21 months to 24 months exclusive of leave.

Residents Get Quart A Day In Water Famine

Columbia, Pa., Fears Fire May Break Out As Ice Jam Remains

COLUMBIA, Pa., Feb. 12 (AP)—A vast ice jam has created a water famine in this Susquehanna River town of 12,000, forcing authorities to proclaim a state of "dire" emergency.

In order to eke out the mere trickle coming in, through improvised channels, oficials have imposed a rigorous rationing system. Each person is held to one quart of drinking water a day.

Water for boiling coffee is all but a forbidden luxury. Bathing and shaving are discouraged. By order of Burgess Walter Roye, all places of business using water for drinking purposes have been closed.

Whatever water can be obtained, Mr. Roye ordered, must be boiled.

We can't take any chances," he said. "The drinking of unpurified water could cause disease and epidemic."

"Let's face it, we are like a beleagured city," commented other officials. "The entire life of the community is thrown out of joint and hazards exist which were unthought of a few days ago".

Roye and his colleagues say they are troubled most lest fire break out.

"We'd be wiped out by a fire," they declared.

And today it was thought likely these conditions might last indefinitely. A slight thaw yesterday had no effect on the ice jam.

The river remains frozen fast for eight miles, shore to shore, from Marietta to Washington Boro. Columbia stands midway between those river points.

The ice jam caused a freak flood which last Friday sent the river 17 feet above normal level, drove 50 families from their homes, disrupted railroad service and engulfed some highways. The Columbia water works was put out of commission and several industries closed down.

'Belt' Debate Due Tonight

Proponents Will Be Heard First On Line

The bell will ring tonight for the opening round in Ohio's "Battle of the Belt".

The Senate judiciary committee of the General Assembly will hold its first hearing on the hotly-disputed measure to give public utility status to conveyor belts.

"Rubber railroad" proponents, with Ed D. Schorr of Columbus and Cincinnati as their head lobbyist, will present their case tonight and tomorrow morning. Opponents will get their chance to blast away two weeks later.

The belt line needs utility status so it can condemn land for a right of way between Lorain and East Liverpool via Youngstown.

The proposal died in the last session under a concerted attack by railroads and their brotherhoods.

Line Crossing 'Very Unwise', British Feel

London Reported In Consultation With U.S. On Question

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP) — Informed sources said today Great Britain considers the crossing of the Korean 38th Parallel by South Korean troops "very unwise".

The South Korean Capital Division was reported to have crossed the former dividing line between South and North Korea yesterday.

These sources said Britain was in consultation with the United States on the question.

About two weeks ago, a Foreign Office spokesman declared that Britain believed there should be consultation among the nations with troops in Korea before any decision was made on whether to punch north of the 38th Parallel again.

When the United Nations forces first crossed the parallel, Britain agreed, but reluctantly.

British officials later blamed the decision to cross the 38th Parallel and the drive toward the Manchurian border as the causes of Communist China's intervention.

Many of the same officials now would like the U.N. forces to establish a stable line near the parallel first and then try to negotiate with Communist China. Only if China refused to negotiate, these officials believe, should a decision be taken on whether to send U.N. forces north of the parallel.

Salineville Boy Hit As Niece, 3, Fires Pistol

A 17-year-old Salineville High School Junior was wounded badly Sunday about 4 p. m. when his .22 caliber target pistol was fired by his 3-year-old niece.

Harry D. Temple, son of Mrs. Esther Wilson of Washington St., is in "fairly good" condition at City Hospital with the lead pellet lodged in his jaw where it stopped after entering his stomach and passing out through his shoulder.

Police Chief James Miller said the youth had stopped at the neighboring home of his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Forbes, and placed the gun on a kitchen chair after volunteering to mash potatoes. The child, Renee, picked up the gun and it discharged.

Mild Weather Melts City's Coating Of Ice

Temperatures were soaring again today after a Sunday high of 46 degrees and a beaming sun that melted much of the ice and snow from last week's cold wave.

The weatherman said the mercury may go into the 50's today although there will be a light rain or drizzle, which will help raise the Ohio River. The stream was going up today after the week-end thaw. The stage was 13.8 feet at noon. The weather will turn colder Tuesday.

The mild weather promised full restoration of natural gas, as the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. yesterday lifted the ban on commercial establishments and gave major industries 60 per cent service.

The Peoples Natural Gas Co. at Midland restored 100 per cent service to industries last night.

The improved gas service permitted the Walkers School to open today. The school was threatened with closing because of the gas shortage last week.

Far East Issue 'Full Of Peril', Nehru Warns

Premier Says India Remains Friend Of U.S. Despite Stand

NEW DELHI, Feb. 12 (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru told India's parliament today this country intends to remain a friend of the United States, despite differences of policy with regard to Korea.

But India will stick to her foreign policy despite criticism, he declared, and has not entirely given up hope that peace will be achieved in the East. But today's situation, he told parliament in an important foreign policy address, is "full of peril".

"There has been a great deal of criticism of our policy in the press and in statements of prominent men in the United States," he said, referring to India's stand in the U.N. against branding Communist China an aggressor. "We welcome criticism and try to profit by it.

"We have not allowed this criticism to come in the way of our friendly feelings toward America, just as we cannot allow it to influence us in a direction which we consider wrong or unwise."

Nehru made no reference to India's plea for two million tons of grain from the U.S to avert famine in this country.

Now that the U.N. has adopted the U.S. resolution branding Red China, he said, his government has only the dimmest hope that settlement may be achieved by negotiations. The passage of the resolution, he said, was "unfortunate".

"As we expected," he continued, "the passing of this resolution has for the time being, at least, put an end to any attempts at negotiations for settlement. We hope still that it may be possible for events to take a better turn in the future, but I must confess that at the moment that hope has grown very dim.

"We do not claim to influence world affairs very much, nor do we have any desire to do so. But fate and circumstances have cast certain responsibility upon us and also dragged us into this whirlpool. We cannot easily escape this responsibility."

Nehru promised India will continue a policy of "the pursuit of peace and unflagging efforts to maintain friendly relations with all other countries".

Vandals Cause $300 Damage In Newell Home

Vandals caused damage estimated at $300 to the home of the late Charles Newell of Newell Heights, it was reported after Deputy Sheriff Robert Edwards' investigation Sunday.

The unoccupied home, owned by J A. Newell of Aliquippa, apparently was entered sometime Friday night, according to Arthur Grogg, a neighbor who has been looking after the property and who discovered the damage Saturday.

A front window was broken to gain entrance and the vandals broke down two doors and destroyed a banister by tossing furniture down the stairway. Drawers and trunks were ransacked and contents strewn about the house.

Older boys skating on two ponds on the property may have been responsible, authorities said

From Fort Eustis To Ohio

Police Seize Pay Officer Who Fled With $12,000

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12 (AP)—F.B.I. agents will take First Lieutenant Donald W. Spencer of Somerset, Perry county, into court today on a charge of running away from his Army base with $12,000 in stolen cash.

Lieutenant Spencer, who is 33, married and the father of two children, was to appear before U.S. Commissioner Herbert Horn for arraignment.

When police caught him on the outskirts of Mansfield yesterday, he admitted at once he stole the pay roll money at Fort Eustis, Va., according to Ray J. Abbaticchio Jr., special agent in charge of the F.B.I's Cleveland office.

As a pay officer, he was entrusted with the cash to give soldiers at Fort Eustic their salaries on Jan. 31. Instead, he fled with the money, the F.B.I. reported, and by the time he was arrested claimed he had only $2,560 left.

The rest, he was quoted as saying, was spent on such high living as rounds of champagne for strangers in various bars, heavy bets on the horses and tours of gambling casinos in the South.

He abandoned his own car in Newport News, Va., where his wife lives, then purchased a 1948 Pontiac convertible in Raleigh, N. C , Feb. 2. The car cost him more than $1,600.

Mansfield police got Lieutenant Spencer's number from the F.B.I. When they stopped him, he was wearing civilian clothes and had an officer's .45 colt automatic pistol, loaded, at his side underneath an overcoat. He made no attempt to use the gun.

In preliminary questioning, he did not say why he decided to take flight with the money, the F.B.I. said.

Flood Eased In Washington

5,000 Left Homeless In 3-Day Rampage

SEATTLE, Feb. 12 (AP) — Clearing skies and a sharp temperature drop eased flood conditions in western Washington and British Columbia today and the Weather Bureau said the "worst is over".

Rain-swollen rivers are cresting and slowly receding after a three-day rampage which left an estimated 5,000 homeless.

British Columbia counted at least five dead after a week end of floods and storms.

A state of emergency is in effect in western Washington and five National Guard units were called out as rampaging rivers crashed through dikes and spilled out over lowlands.

The Red Cross here said national headquarters has made a disaster appropriation for the area.

Governor Langlie has proclaimed a state of emergency.

Rivers spilled their banks after three days of record rain.

The highest water in many years was reported on the Skagit River in Northwestern Washington.

Only main highways are passable throughout the 100-mile flood zone from Seattle to the Canadian border.

Army Gets Fight Between Pearson And McCarthy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Army has turned over to the Justice Department the squabble between Senator McCarthy (R) of Wisconsin and Columnist Drew Pearson over charges by each that the other violated military security.

Mr. Pearson, in turn, said last night he asked Secretary of Defense Marshall to look into the matter because he has jurisdiction over Mr. McCarthy, a Marine reserve officer.

Secretary of the Army Pace indicated Saturday night the Army had not been able to learn who gave Mr. Pearson copies of confidential military messages which the writer and radio commentator printed in his newspaper column Dec. 30.

Mr. McCarthy has contended in Senate speeches that Mr. Pearson, by quoting from intelligence reports, made it possible for an enemy to break secret codes used in their transmission.

Mr. Pearson retorted that the senator was the one guilty of violating security by disclosing in one speech the date and number of a secret Army report from Korea which Mr. Pearson had cited in a column.

New in Style—New in Structure—New in Power—New in Thrift—Potent in Price Appeal—It's the 1951 BUICK SPECIAL!

HERE is good news for folks with a shrewd eye for what their dollars will buy.

Here is a tidy traveler that defies the upward trend of costs—proudly wears a 1951 price tag like that which zoomed last year's SPECIAL into popularity so great that it put a crimp in "the low-priced three."

Take our word for it, this is every inch and ounce a Buick—Buick-featured, Buick-designed, Buick-built from the ground up—but literally the newest thing on wheels.

The sturdy and ample body is new. The high-strength frame is new. The power is new to the SPECIAL, which now has the thrifty F-263 engine that first made its name in the SUPER, and here delivers 120 horsepower with standard transmission—128 with Dynaflow Drive.*

It's a Buick with less weight and more power—and that spells a pair of new thrills for you. There's a performance thrill such as you've never enjoyed in the SPECIAL—plus a handsome gas-saving into the bargain.

We'll make a prediction now as to what title folks will give it, once they get it out on the road. That title, in three words, will be: "Thriftiest Buick Yet!"

Better hurry around to your Buick dealer's and look this marvel over.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on other Series.

We'll give you another prediction—which is:

Once this one's discovered, the demand will be terrific.

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

No other car provides all this:
Dynaflow Drive • Fireball Power • Push-Bar Forefront • White-Glow Instruments • Torque-Tube Drive • 4-Wheel Coil Springing • Dual Ventilation • Dreamline Styling • Body by Fisher

Gambling And Charity

FOR some reason, pamphlets have started circulating here suggesting it would be all right to legalize small-stake gambling in private clubs.

There are no signatures on the pamphlets, and no indication that the idea will be transplanted into an actual proposal to the State Legislature. But they plead the gambling case in appealing terms.

The opening paragraph states: "It is an American tradition that clubs, churches, and charities receive much of their revenue from raffles, bingo games, coin-operated machines, carnival wheels, and other speculative amusements. Many hospitals, schools, community club rooms, playgrounds, athletic fields, civic centers and similar useful projects have been built and supported with money received from operations of small-stake gambling by worthy organizations."

After some reference to the Kefauver committee's inquiry into gambling syndicates around the country, the pamphlet continues: "The hue and cry against illegal gambling threatens the existence of morally proper gaming activities for worthy causes. The campaign against gambling has caused many law enforcement officials to enforce anti-gambling laws strictly and impartially: innocent games of chance conducted for charity have been closed."

After much elaboration on this point, telling how proceeds go to crippled children, orphans, the aged, etc., the pamphlet winds up with this paragraph: "Laws should be changed to make legal the operation of small-stake bingo games, raffles, slot machines, chances and carnival wheels for the benefit of churches, charities, bonafide clubs, military veterans' posts and fraternal associations and lodges. This problem requires attention now."

No one will quarrel with the statement that a lot of private clubs support themselves on slot machine proceeds. As the pamphlet says, it is doubtful if they could exist without them.

But to dress the thing up with the contention that the proceeds find their way into charitable channels is straining the truth so badly that the pamphlet deserves answer.

The proceeds from the slot machines of private clubs build the buildings the clubs occupy. They pay for the furnishings, and other appointments for the comfort of the members. They foot the bill for custodians, and they finance special events to keep the membership happy.

If, after all these—after the comforts of the organization have been looked after—there is money left over, a charitable enterprise of one sort or another may be considered. The general run of adults are willing to be considerate of others, once their own personal needs have been satisfied

But to argue that the primary benefit of private-club gambling is a deep interest in the community welfare is pure hokum. The Y.M.C.A. doesn't have a slot machine on the premises, but it serves more young people in a day than a private club will do in a year. Father Flanagan didn't build Boys' Town with the proceeds from church bingo games. He built it mainly from an affection for youngsters. The Warm Springs Foundation didn't finance itself with a carnival wheel. It was built because enough people were concerned about what happened to polio victims

An out-and-out vote on gambling would be all right—this is a democracy. But when gambling tries to camouflage itself as important to the community's welfare, that's going too far.

Worth A Side Bet

THE U.S. ARMY has taken tardy notice of criticism against its ratio between service and combat troops, relative to the ratio of the Russian army It denies the unfavorable comparisons which critics have been making. The Russian army, it points out, is able to give the illusion of more fighting efficiency by using smaller divisions and failing to keep them up to strength. It gives its soldiers less training, keeps them in service for longer periods, and neglects medical personnel.

The Army defense of its policy is important, because there now is in progress a kind of battle of statistics between people scared stiff of the Soviet Union and those skeptical about any information that "leaks" through the Iron Curtains. Among the scared-stiff people is Prime Minister Attlee of Britain. He said in a speech last week that Russia has 175 divisions, 25,000 tanks, 20,000 airplanes and the world's largest submarine fleet—a formidable array of statistics.

This is the sort of thing calculated to make European teeth chatter. No one denies that Russia is a major military power. But it will take some common sense to make sound evaluations of its power on a relative basis, which is the only basis that means anything. It is worth a side bet any time that the Communist dictatorship of Russia is only a fraction as strong as its doctored military statistics, magnified by the teeth-chattering apprehension of people frightened silly by everything about the Soviet Union.

Behind The News

By George Sokolsky

America Needs Another Abraham Lincoln

AS THE YEARS pass, Abraham Lincoln is not being remembered as the president who controlled our destinies during the War Between The States, nor even as the president who issued the Emancipation Proclamation.

Rather do Washington and Lincoln stand high above all the men who have sat in the president's chair. And their greatness lies in their selfless devotion to the nation.

It is said that President Truman has taken Jackson as his model, which is unfortunate, because it can only justify in his own mind a cantankerousness that approaches a distorted ego. Franklin D. Roosevelt employed no model, for he was his own model, naturally.

Lincoln could not have understood disloyalty. Even as we today are faced by disloyalty, by those who can and do serve an enemy, overtly and in secret, so was he faced with the same problem. In a proclamation, March 10, 1863, he said:

"WHEREAS evil-disposed and disloyal persons at sundry places have enticed and procured soldiers to desert and absent themselves from their regiments, thereby weakening the strength of the armies and prolonging the war, giving aid and comfort to the enemy, and cruelly exposing the gallant and faithful soldiers remaining in the ranks to increased hardships and danger;

"I do therefore call upon all patriotic and faithful citizens to oppose and resist the aforementioned dangerous and treasonable crimes, and to aid in restoring to their regiments all soldiers absent without leave, and to assist in the execution of the act of Congress 'for enrolling and calling out the national forces, and for other purposes', and to support the proper authorities in the prosecution and punishment of offenders against said act and in suppressing the insurrection and rebellion."

He called upon the people to aid in this, whereas in our era disloyalty has become so much a political issue that the executive branch of the government consistently since 1934, when the Harold Ware communist cell was organized, has aided, defended, protected and whitewashed the disloyal.

It is not only a matter of Alger Hiss and William W. Remington, who was convicted last week, after having been cleared on several occasions by so-called loyalty boards.

It is much more than that. It is a general attitude that loyalty is a private matter and that high public officials, even in so important an agency as the State Department, may have private judgment as to whether the United States must be preserved as a sovereign state or shall become absorbed in some vast international congeries of states which live upon its strength while humiliating and shaming its traditions and conduct.

LINCOLN would not have tolerated disloyalty. And even in his proclamation pardoning all who had taken up arms against this government and restoring to them their property, except slaves, he still insisted upon a loyalty oath, to wit:

"I, —— ——, do solemnly swear, in presence of Almighty God, that I will henceforth faithfully support, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States and the union of the states thereunder; and that I will in like manner abide by and faithfully support all acts of Congress passed during the existing rebellion with reference to slaves, so long and so far as not repealed, modified, or held void by Congress or by decision of the Supreme Court; and that I will in like manner abide by and faithfully support all proclamations of the president made during the existing rebellion having reference to slaves, so long and so far as not modified or declared void by decision of the Supreme Court. So help me God."

There was an unerring greatness in this simple man which stands like a beacon in our era of intellectual and spiritual pigmies. He placed country above party. He placed principle above self. And because he so believed, he was assassinated.

It was unfortunate that he was followed by lesser men who dared not understand that the essence of reconstruction was malice toward none. They gave this country many unfortunate years.

No country can survive inadequate leadership; no nation can survive disloyalty. We need a Lincoln and a Robert E. Lee today to rescue America from a morass of mediocrity. On Lincoln's birthday this is something to think about.

Good Or Bad News?

By J. M. Roberts Jr.

NEW YORK

REPORTS FROM KOREA look too good. Circumstances are building up which could expand the war.

If the present on-the-surface effectiveness of Allied firepower against Chinese manpower should turn out to be real and lasting—in other words, if the Allies appear to be winning the war in Korea — the possibility of more Russian intervention will become a factor.

If the display of Allied strength proves unreal and is due to a Chinese desire for a breathing spell, then renewal of the Communist offensive — redoubled in the light of lessons learned from the current counter-attacks—can be expected.

This latter seems very likely.

Despite the Allied comeback, and despite the general gains it has produced, it still looks more like an effort to unbalance a regrouping enemy.

American and Allied forces, in hurried if orderly retreat a few weeks ago, have been slugging back up the peninsula in steady fashion since Jan. 25. They have been inflicting terrific casualties on the Communists — maybe 15 or 20 to one.

But the Reds still have tremendous manpower if they are willing to take the losses which the Allies can inflict. They have committed probably less than half the troops they have available in the Manchuria-Korean area.

Top military men are expressing the belief that the Allies cannot be thrown off the peninsula.

If they are not thrown off by an expected new Chinese offensive, the situation may become more critical rather than less.

If a new Chinese offensive should leave the Allies capable of repeated counter-attacks similar to the present situation, Communist leaders are going to face the serious need for air power with which to reduce the Allied base.

If they get it, it can come only from Russia—first, perhaps, in the form of Russian-made planes, but soon thereafter, because of the lack of trained Chinese personnel, in the form of Russian-manned units.

What Price Royalty?

By Dewitt Mackenzie

NEW YORK

KING GEORGE of England is having a tough time making ends meet these days — even as you and I—and things have got so tough that the government has had to boost his allowance a bit.

So what price royalty? What is the value of a monarch superimposed on a government headed by a prime minister who is the real chief of state?

In the first place, the ruler is the symbol which, more than any other, binds together the world-wide arms of the British commonwealth. It isn't the British government or the British flag which holds these countries together, but the throne.

However, I believe the thing cuts deeper than that. The king not only is the non-political symbol of state, but his people look to him as the symbol of British ideals and way of life. The fact that he is encountering difficulties with the cost of living will make his loyal subjects nod and say: "He is one of us"

Then there is another important aspect of the case. Whereas prime ministers change frequently, the king is on the throne for life. And even as he dies his successor is saluted by the home secretary with the age-old words: "The king is dead, long live the king."

So governments come and go, but the king goes on forever.

As a constitutional monarch, the king has no authority to interfere with government. However, his majesty is an invaluable source of advice for prime ministers and other members of the cabinet. This is true because of the intensive training which an heir to the throne undergoes, including a study of the different branches of the commonwealth and their peoples.

Ready For Service

The Lesson Was Worth The Price

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

THE KOREAN war appears to be heading for a scoreless tie.

It has been fought like a football game, with each side taking turns ranging deep into the other's territory before running into an unbreakable defense.

In the 34th week of the campaign, the scrimage line again is in midfield.

And once again Allied troops are reported to have crossed the 38th Parallel—the artificial frontier from which the North Korean Reds first attacked last June 25.

When the Americans first approached the 38th Parallel, Chou En-lai, the Chinese premier, said his government wouldn't stand idly by if the Allies crossed that line.

The United Nations army either chose to regard this warning as a bluff or decided to take the consequences. It invaded North Korea and drove to the Manchurian border at three points before waves of fresh Chinese troops entered the war and forced it to withdraw into South Korea.

AT THE time the Allies did cross the 38th Parallel, a high Army officer told me:

"We are making a mistake. I believe Chou En-lai means what he says. We could stop here, where the peninsula is only about 150 miles wide.

"If we go all the way to the northern frontier of Korea, we will have to defend a border 700 miles long that adjoins both China and Russia How can we expect to set up a new state of Korea that will last with 700 miles of border touching two great world powers? We would have to put in a tremendous army of our own to protect it and we might have to garrison that line beyond our lifetime."

Many Army officers shared his view at the time. They felt it unwise militarily to approach the Manchurian boundary with the force they then had available.

But the attack was made and the Allies pursued the shattered North Korean Red army deep into its own territory. The entrance of the Chinese Communist armies changed the picture. In three tremendous all-night counter-attacks last November, they broke up the United Nations offensive and inflicted thousands of casualties. The Allies began a stubborn withdrawal that lasted two full months.

—:—

THEN THE United Nations opened a "limited offensive". Now again they stand at Seoul.

Before leaving Korea, I asked the same high Army officer whether he still regarded that first crossing of the parallel as a mistake.

"No," he said. "I believe now it was worth it.

"What would have happened if we had halted at the 38th? I think we would have pulled out our own troops in a few weeks and left a lot of our military equipment behind for the South Korean army.

"Then the North Korean army, safe behind the boundary, would have been reorganized and freshly supplied with arms by China and Russia. In time it would have attacked again, and probably have won, for it is doubtful that we would have come in again. Korea would be gone—and the equipment we left.

"Meanwhile, we would have became overconfident because of the success of our Inchon landing and America would have gone to sleep militarily. Now we are wide awake of our peril.

"The attack beyond the 38th Parallel taught us what our great dangers are—the danger of being lulled by a false sense of our own invincibility, the danger of thinking that our mechanized weapons have a complete dominance over pure manpower."

He said he felt the lesson learned was worth the price paid.

No Rabbit-Punching

By Truman Twill

EVERYBODY is taking a poke at the 4-F athlete—the fellow who takes pride in his ability to perform in some sport yet is unable to meet the standards of military service. This does not fall squarely into the classification of good clean fun. Some low blows are being struck.

The 4-F athlete did not make the standards for military service. Like everybody else he is subject to remote control in this matter. And he does not relish the prospect of being discriminated against just because he happens to be able to do something that not everybody else can do.

He must wonder why he alone has been made the goat for a situation by no means confined to 4-F athletes. Many American men are rejected for military service because they do not make a passing score in so-called intelligence tests. Yet no one seems inclined to wonder why these rejectees should be allowed to continue to follow civilian occupations which require more intelligence than it takes to be in the ranks.

In addition to arbitrary standards for physical condition and mental ability, the armed services also have standards for emotional condition. Here again the 4-F athlete being put on the pan has a right to wonder. Some rejectees considered unfit for military service because of emotional mixups are considered fit for civilian circumstances which strain the emotions more than they are strained in the armed forces.

Furthermore, as athletes well know, their ability to engage in athletics is not related absolutely to physical ability.

It also is the result of combinations of temperament and coordination, plus determination and courage. Sports is full of examples of performers who theoretically are physically inadequate for the things they do — stringbean pitchers, flatfooted halfbacks, runners with physical handicaps. Many athletes stay in the game despite disabilities which would be an excuse for nonathletes to stay in bed under a doctor's care.

It may be the American way to choose a goat for the bitter feeling generated by manpower mobilization, but there is nothing admirable about it.

Just because an American can throw a ball well enough to make the team is not prima facie evidence that he is qualified to wear a military uniform. Perhaps all American males under a certain age should be put into uniform willy-nilly. But until that decision has been made and accepted, it is out of character for a nation that believes in fair play to start inducting athletes willy-nilly just because they are athletes.

The all-out war that may have to be fought to keep some sense of balance in a world threatened by organized hatred should not become an occasion to start rabbit-punching one another in the main stronghold of human dignity.

Off The Record By Ed Reed

"Surely you're not going to insist on my taking it down NOW?"

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Taxes, Taxes, Taxes

ONE FEATURE in Secretary Snyder's new tax bill is a 20 per cent greens fee tax for golfers. This is the first proposal for a tax on walking, crabbing, muttering and adding incorrectly! Your troubles as a golfer may soon be due to the fact Truman and Snyder are gripping the club too hard.

* * *

Nothing is certain but death, bigger tax bills and a vacuum cleaner in every wallet. This time Washington is not only drafting money but taking it without a physical. Your dollar is going to war no matter what shape it is in. Mr. Snyder's new proposals call for a pick-up and delivery service. The government gets you, cleans you, presses you and delivers you back in a federal automatic dryer.

—:—

IF YOU smoke, drink, chew, wash, shave, listen to Howdy Doody, follow Uncle Miltie, own an auto, need an icebox, carry a watch, play golf or take a glass of beer before going to bed this one will take you for plenty. "Taxes are paid in the sweat of every man's brow," Roosevelt said some years ago. That was covering minimum anatomical territory. You can't get enought from a brow to pay one installment today.

* * *

Mr. Snyder's latest ideas include a tax of 20 per cent on new automobiles. This means putting the bumpers on the owner instead of the auto. The tax on a de luxe sedan can be as high as $800. That used to buy a bus and allow for extras. Another three-or-four-cent boost looms on gas. The day is at hand when the auto will have to take the man in for repairs and adjustments.

—:—

"HAPPY motoring!" When you say that, smile! The dashboard panel of tomorrow may include an aspirin ejector, a pain killer, a blank check printing press, a stiff drink mixer, direct radio communication with your fiscal agent, a speedometer to tell how fast your bankroll is going and an automatic gauge to indicate when an owner has run down and needs recharging. Take off that windshield wiper! There's nothing ahead but the Democrats anyhow.

* * *

It is the new tax on golfing that is the big surprise. It's really a "tee" tax. Truman thinks only the Republicans play golf. In our book a golfer already pays plenty. Look at the liquor tax he becomes liable for before he gets out of the locker room! There's a tax when he phones the wife he won't be home for dinner. And after he gets home there's a fight that can only be settled via a mink coat, tax or no tax.

* * *

But cheer up. Every time you miss the ball you will be doing something for your country. The longer you are in a sand trap, the more you may be helping the defense effort. Even a missed putt can be patriotic. Fore! One side, men, and let those revenue boys through!

Deaths and Funerals

G. L. Bambrick Claimed At 81

Hancock Attorney's Rites To Be Tuesday

George L. Bambrick, dean of Hancock county attorneys, former state senator and prosecuting attorney and a Democratic party leader, died Saturday at 11:45 p. m. in the home of his son, George D. Bambrick, on Ridge Ave., New Cumberland.

Mr. Bambrick, 81, was an invalid more than two years as the result of a broken hip. He had been retired since leaving the West Virginia Senate in 1948.

He was born in Wayne County, Ia., Sept. 14, 1869, a son of Lewis Steinrod Bambrick and Sarah Baxter Bambrick. He attended West Virginia University graduating in 1896 when he was admitted to the bar. He maintained a law office in New Cumberland for more than 50 years.

He was solicitor for New Cumberland for several years and was Hancock County prosecuting attorney from 1912 to 1916 and from 1932 to 1936. He was attorney for the state auditor from 1937 to 1948 and was a member of the State Senate from 1944 to 1948.

Mr. Bambrick was a 32nd degree Mason in "Blue" Lodge No. 22 at New Cumberland, the Royal Arch Masons and the Wheeling Consistory and Scottish Rite bodies. He was past grand master of the Ancient Order of United Workmen and was a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity and the Presbyterian Church.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Eleanor B Ruckman of Monmouth, Ore; a sister, Mrs. Daisy B Rhodes of Lutz, Fla.; a brother, Walter S. Bambrick, postmaster at Weirton, and three grandchildren. His wife, Mrs. Christine Bambrick, died Aug. 9, 1944.

A Masonic service will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Stewart and Turley Funeral Home in New Cumberland by Rev. William Flurkey. Burial will be New Cumberland Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

She leaves two sons, Roy Maloney of East Liverpool, and Edwin Maloney of Perkasie, Pa.; a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Spratley of East Liverpool; two sisters, Mrs. Matilda Kalacienski and Mrs. Amelia Barg of Covington, and five grandchildren.

Rites will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. in the Roy Maloney home, 436 West Fifth St., by Rev. W. T. Wilson. Burial will be in Riverview Cemetery.

Friends may call Tuesday afternoon and night at the son's home.

James R. Mays

James Robert Mays, 81, of Annesley Road, St. Clair Township, died Sunday at 10:15 a. m. following a long illness.

Mr. Mays was born in Meigs County and lived here 50 years. He was a retired carpenter.

He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Mabel D. Lamp of Glenmoor; a brother, Milo Mays of East Liverpool; six sisters, Mrs. Samuel Rambo, Mrs. Arthur Seevers, Mrs. Louise Patterson, Mrs. Katherine Anderson, Mrs. Sarah Frazier and Miss Retta Mays of East Liverpool, and three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Rites will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Martin Funeral Home by Rev. Paul C Bailey, pastor of the Boyce Methodist Church. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery.

Friends may call tonight at the funeral home.

Miss Katherine Jack

Services for Miss Katharine I. Jack, 51, of Madison township, will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the MacLean Funeral Home, Wellsville, by Rev. Harold W. Eller, pastor of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Yellow Creek Cemetery. She died Saturday morning.

Miss Jack, born in Wellsville, was employed in the office of the R. Thomas & Sons Co. in East Liverpool and Lisbon for 31 years. She was a member of the Church, the Ladies Missionary Society and the Yellow Creek Grange.

In addition to two brothers, she leaves two nieces.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight.

Robert Lee Neal

Robert Lee Neal, 907 Fairview St., died Sunday at 1 p. m. in City Hospital, following a brief illness. He was 73.

Mr. Neal was born in Gnadenhutten and lived in East Liverpool 50 years. He was employed last as an engineer and watchman for the Lowthan Manufacturing Co.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Carrie May Neal; five sons, Ray Neal of Cleveland, Clinton Neal of Buffalo, N. Y, Norman Neal with the Air Force in California, John Neal of Wellsville, and Charles Neal of Berea; a daughter, Mrs. Pearl Varian of Travers City, Mich.; a half-brother, John Cole of Los Angeles; and a sister, Mrs. Charles Kountz of Wellsville.

Rites will be held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. in the Martin Funeral Home by Rev. C. L. Rodda, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene. Burial will be in Spring Grove Cemetery

Friends may call Tuesday night at the funeral home.

Mrs. Bessie Lindesmith

LISBON, Feb. 12 (Special)—Mrs. Bessie E. Morrow Lindesmith, 356 East Lincoln Way, died in her home at 3 a. m. today after a several months illness. She was 74.

A daughter of Henry and Rebecca Morrow, she was born in Center Township, Jan. 27, 1877. Her husband, William Lindesmith, died in January, 1950.

She was a member of the Presbyterian Church and the Naomi Circle and the Champion Grange of Upper Sandusky, where she and her husband operated a grocery store for 16 years.

Services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. at the Henry Funeral Home by Rev. Paul T. Gerrard. Burial will be in Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call Wednesday afternoon and night at the funeral home.

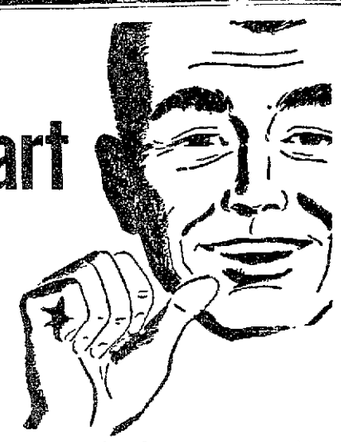
I got a Fresh Start with a cash loan at HFC



"Ever get in a spot where you needed extra cash fast? I guess we all do at one time or another. Well, I needed $300 to clean up some old bills. I was plenty worried—until a friend of mine recommended Household Finance. So I phoned HFC. I got a pleasant surprise. I found I could borrow three ways—on my signature, car or furniture. And I could get as little as $20 or as much as $1000 and repay it in monthly instalments. Best of all, I didn't need endorsers or guarantors.

"And talk about service! Take my word for it, HFC is really a friendly, helpful place to do business. And HFC specializes in fast service. I got money I needed right then, without the slightest embarrassment.

"If you need money for any good purpose—do as I and thousands of others do. Get a fresh start now at HFC—Household Finance Corporation. Why not call HFC today?"

Dewey Backs Big U.S. Army For Europe

Splits With Hoover And Taft In Debate On Foreign Policy

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP) — Governor Thomas E. Dewey has re-entered the "great debate" on foreign policy with an appeal for a large American land army free to deploy its forces in Europe.

The titular head of the Republican party, twice a presidential candidate, clearly split with some other G.O.P. leaders—including Senator Robert Taft of Ohio and former president Herbert Hoover—as he was interviewed yesterday on the National Broadcasting Co.'s Meet The Press television show.

Mr. Dewey, in direct variance with Mr. Hoover, said it was "the utmost of folly" to think this country can be defended by air and sea power without large ground forces.

The governor also opposed congressional limitation on the number of American troops sent to Europe, a restriction that Mr. Taft advocates along with Republican Senator Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska.

Mr. Dewey said "isolationist" utterances are a "great aid to Stalin" and enlarge "the area of those in Europe who say 'We have been run over twice, our cities decimated, our children murdered Let's be neutral and let America and Russia fight it out'."

To create a defense with only "two out of the three branches of military service", Mr. Dewey said, "is ignoring every lesson of both modern and ancient history".

"We had absolute undisputed command of the air, and yet we nearly got driven off of Korea," he added.

The question of where troops should be sent, Mr. Dewey said, is "a job for experts" and not Congress. He added that European nations should, and would, raise many more troops than America sends there.

Mr. Dewey said he thought the "great debate" among Republicans, with its "hard clash" of opinion, is good, as it paves the way for a policy representing the wishes of all the people

During the interview, Mr. Dewey also said:

▶President Truman has not offered him a cabinet post.

▶Less than 48 per cent of the people now support the President.

▶"I am not a candidate (for the presidency) nor will I be one."

Parcel Post Flow Resumes For City

The first flow of parcel post and mail since the embargo was lifted began to arrive this morning at the Post Office.

But the backlog of mail, held in terminals around the country during the recent rail strike, probably won't arrive until the middle of the week, Postmaster Ralph C. Benedum said.

He pointed out that a full schedule of trains through Salem —terminal of one of the star routes—won't be operating until Tuesday.

Trucks arriving today were loaded with parcel post and many sacks of first class mail, apparently tied up somewhere during the work stoppage, also were received.

Meat Packers O.K. Pay Raise

9 Cents Due To Set Pattern For Industry

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP) — Three of the nation's four big meat-packing companies have agreed to a wage increase of nine cents an hour which is expected to be the pattern for the entire industry.

The agreement, subject to Wage Stabilization Board approval, was reached yesterday between Swift, Armour and Cudahy and the C.I.O. United Packinghouse Workers of America and between Armour and Swift and the A.F.L. Amalgamated Meatcutters.

Wilson & Co, the fourth big packer, was not included in either agreement.

In accepting the terms, the C.I.O. union authorized its leadership to take strike action if the agreement is not approved by the W.S.B. The meatcutters did not consider strike action. Instead, they gave their negotiating committee authority to reach a settlement without even submitting the matter to the rank and file membership.

A spokesman for the U.P.W.A. said "the fight now is with the Wage Stabilization Board". The agreement is expected to be submitted to the W.S.B. today or tomorrow.

The new pay scale becomes effective as of Feb. 9, provided the W.S.B. approves it by March 25. The present wage rate ranges from $1.26 an hour for laborers to $2.11 an hour for skilled workers.

The two unions claim to represent about 90 per cent of the 225,000 workers in the nation's packing industry. Heretofore, the terms reached between the unions and the major packers have been followed in contracts with the other companies.

51 Take Scholarship Tests Staged At Lisbon

LISBON, Feb. 12 (Special)—Fifty-one high school seniors took state general scholarship tests Saturday morning at Lisbon High School.

The papers were forwarded to Columbus for electric scoring and results will be announced in April, Mr. McBride said.

Spotters See 43 Aircraft

11 Aid 2-Day Watch Of Wellsville Skies

Members of the Wellsville Ground Observer Corps spotted 43 military and commercial planes in their week-end sky watch as part of the air defense test of the Northeastern United States that ended Sunday.

Fred Martin, chief observer, said 11 persons turned out for the task Saturday and Sunday. They reported planes to the Canton Filter Station, which relayed the information to Stewart Field, Newburgh, N. Y., where the Eastern Air Defense Force directed the work over a 21-state area east of the Mississippi River and north of North Carolina.

The maneuvers, which lasted four days in all, involved some 3,000 aircraft sorties while an estimated 150,000 observers, radar and Army anti-aircraft artillery provided the ground service.

The Air Force graded the results as "very satisfactory" but security reasons blacked out further comment, including the performance of radar.

Mr. Martin said Wellsville's "bag" was two more than spotted at the first test last November Single engined private planes were not counted, unless they spotted more than one flying in formation.

Mr. Martin was aided by Frank Lloyd, Robert Lowther, Norman Eckfeld, Dwight Russell, Harold Brennen, Dorman Householder, Murry Chefalo, Earl Leughmyer, Kenneth Winters and Minnie Prezzia.

He said at least 40 spotters are needed for efficient 24-hour service as he appealed for more volunteers. The corps now numbers 19, including Otto Dustman, supervisor.

Molestation, Illegal Voting Trials Slated

Everett Reynolds, 55, of East Liverpool will be tried Tuesday in Common Pleas Court at Lisbon on a charge of molesting two minor children last May.

Scheduled for Wednesday is the trial of Charton C. Frantz of Pittsburgh, operator of Frantz Baking Co. in East Liverpool, who is accused of illegal voting in the Nov. 7 election

Both were indicted by the January Grand Jury.

West Virginia Disputed Bills Near Passage

Conservation And 'Fire Boss' Actions Come Up For Vote

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Feb 12 (AP)—Two controversial measures are at passage stage on legislative calendars today, the "fire boss" bill in the Senate and bills in both House and Senate to remove conservation workers from merit system protection.

But opponents of the conservation bill insisted House action Friday in accepting a Senate proposal for a two-year study of the Conservation Commission's work drew enough support to block further action.

The bill would remove Conservation Commission employees from coverage by the merit system—the state equivalent of civil service. College-trained technical men would remain covered under the Senate version.

Despite opponent's insistence that the bill is dead, Chairman Booth (D) of Fayette County of the House game and fish committee declared he will force a showdown vote in the House.

The "fire boss" bill would permit foremen to continue serving also as safety inspectors—fire bosses—in West Virginia mines.

The practice, one of long standing in this state, was held to be illegal under existing law in a state Supreme Court decision which has not yet been made effective. The bill, subject of a public hearing a week ago, is supported by the coal operators, opposed by the United Mine Workers.

The House also faces a fight over liberalization of divorce laws. Coming up as a special order of business today is a motion to reconsider the 47-44 vote by which the House passed Friday a bill to add insanity to grounds for divorce in West Virginia and reduce from two years to one the period of desertion required for divorce.

The Senate last week put the House-passed bill on its calendar and shunted a similar bill of its own back to the judiciary committee Even if House passage is reconsidered and upheld, the Senate is expected to strike out the provision permitting divorce after five years of insanity.

For the life of your car...

Every auto maker advises:

"IN WINTER...
DRAIN AND REPLACE ENGINE OIL MORE OFTEN"

1 WHEN IT'S COLD OUTSIDE...
Your car engine manufactures as much as a gallon of water for every gallon of gasoline burned. Most of this water passes out through the exhaust pipe. Some slips past your piston rings into the crankcase.

2 IT RAINS INSIDE YOUR ENGINE...
In the summer, high engine temperatures keep most of this "blow-by" moisture from condensing. In winter, cold engines, shorter trips and slower driving leave the crankcase cold—ideal for condensation. When it's cold outside, it literally rains inside your crankcase!

3 CONTAMINATES YOUR OIL...
This condensed water drips into your oil. Unburned fuel from extra cold-weather "choking", together with by-products of combustion enter the oil. Oil, water and unburned gasoline are churned together into a thick, gummy substance called cold-sludge.

4 AND HERE'S THE RESULT!
Cold sludge plugs oil screens, piston rings and oil lines, preventing proper oil flow and lubrication. It increases oil consumption. Hurts winter gasoline mileage. Leads to engine damage and repair bills. There's only one simple, effective solution—get the contaminated oil out of the crankcase often in winter.

11 Hurt In Indiana As Cars Pile Up In Fog

GREENCASTLE, Ind., Feb. 12 (AP)—The driver of a big semi-trailer ran into a patch of fog on U. S. 40 five miles south of here yesterday and jammed on the brakes.

An automobile crashed into the rear of the trailer. A bus carrying 21 passengers crashed into the wreckage. Four other cars then crashed into the pile-up.

Eleven persons were hurt. Six of them were children. But only two were hurt seriously.

A mother and her baby were thrown from the back seat of one car through the windshield to the pavement. The mother was hurt severely, but she clung tightly to the baby and it suffered only minor cuts.

position to contain the Chinese offensive and they will hold where they stand unless overwhelming numbers of the enemy force them to pull back to protect their flanks.

About 20 miles below Seoul is a battered town called Suwon. It is the western anchor of what the Japanese army used to regard as the best defensive line in South Korea. The central bulwark of that line was Wonju and its eastern bastion on the Sea of Japan was Samchok.

The United Nations holds that line now—and it will take a carpet of Chinese flesh to breach it.

Korea

Seoul, is in rugged hill country where the terrain favors the enemy. Roads are narrow and two mountain passes south of Hoengsong normally permit only one-way traffic.

The Communists move along these icy, precipitous roads like mountain goats, but transport is dangerous for the mechanized Allied forces.

The temperature has dipped to zero

Three Red regiments drove the main wedge seven miles deep to a point five miles southwest of Hoengsong.

A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman said elements of three Chinese Communist army corps and two North Korean corps were attacking in the Hoengsong area. Front-line intelligence officers estimated the Red strength as including six divisions—some 60,000 men. The Reds had been building up strength here for some time.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

NUPTIAL VOWS WERE exchanged by Miss Susanna M. Lemal and Gerald C. Popejoy, Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the Anderson Methodist Church. John Q. Call, lay pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar setting of lighted candles and white gladioli and pink carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lemal, 234 West Ninth St., and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Marie Popejoy, 110 West Third St.

A half-hour recital of traditional music was presented by Miss Agnes Shadduck.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in white satin. A sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and a lace insert fashioned the fitted bodice. The skirt was highlighted with a shadow train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a Juliet cap trimmed in seed pearls and she carried a white Bible with white gardenias.

Miss Beverly Lemal, sister of the bride, was maid of honor in aqua taffeta and carried orange delight roses tied with multi-colored ribbon.

Fred Smith served as best man.

Ushers were John Maola and William Neppl, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Lemal wore Navy blue with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother chose shell pink. Both wore white gardenias and pink rosebud corsages.

A reception for 35 followed in the F. O. P. Hall. The three-tiered cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple.

Upon their return from a brief honeymoon the couple will reside temporarily with the bridegroom's mother.

The bride is a graduate of East Liverpool High School with the Class of 1944 and is employed as a clerk at the A. & P. Super-market.

Mr. Popejoy was discharged recently after serving three years with the Air Force. He works at the Mackintosh-Hemphill Co., Midland.

Washington Story Featured At Wellsville D.A.R. Meeting

USING the Washington theme, Bethia Southwick Chapter D.A.R. presented the story of Kenmore by sound and film at its meeting Friday night in the home of Mrs. D. C. Moore on Aten Ave., Wellsville.

Representative Delmar T. O'Hara, using equipment loaned by American Legion Post 70, projected a film depicting the home life of Betty Washington Fielding, sister of George Washington.

Devotions given by Mrs. Clarence Green, chaplain, were in keeping with the World Day of Prayer. The Scripture was followed by silent prayers and a poem, "I Talked with God".

The flag salute and pledge of allegiance, led by Mrs. Ford Ball, was followed by the D.A.R. salutes. Mrs. Joseph Chetwynd read the President General's message for February, and Mrs. Ethel Swift read the message of the southeast director.

Plans were completed for Valentine and Easter boxes to be sent to the chapter's adopted Indian child at Dacone, Okla. Committee chairmen announced that yearly reports had been sent to the state chairman.

Mrs. Green, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Edwin Wilson were elected as delegates to the state conference at Dayton March 12-14. They will be accompanied by Regent Mrs. Delmar T. O'Hara Sr. Delegates and alternates to the 60th Continental Congress in Washington, D. C., in April are Miss Mary Burneson, Mrs. Guy Fuhrman and Mrs. William Lacy, all of Lisbon, and Mrs. Carl Haugh and Mrs. Ball of Wellsville.

Mrs. Moore has been appointed by the Ohio state regent, Mrs. Earl B. Padgett, to serve on the house committee and Mrs. O'Hara as regent will head the group.

Mrs. J. G. Lewis will have a consignment of articles made at the state school for the blind at Columbus for the next meeting, the entire proceeds to be for their benefit. The public will be given an opportunity to help in this worthy project.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Donald Newbold.

Shah Of Iran Marries Kin Of Rebellious Chief

TEHERAN, Iran, Feb. 12 (AP)—The thunder of a 21-gun salute boomed out the news of the shah's wedding today to lovely Soraya Esfandiari, 19-year-old granddaughter of a once rebellious Persian tribal chief.

Seated before two chief mullahs, Iran's highest religious leaders, the once-divorced shah and his European-educated, half-German bride were wed in a simple Moslem ceremony at Marmar Palace.

By order of the shah, the traditional splendor of Persian court fetes was lacking in the celebration of the wedding. Iranian flags flying over snow-covered streets and a prancing squadron of lancers provided the only spots of color as the new queen's limousine carried her to the palace for the ceremony.

The shah, 32-year-old Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, waited at the palace while his sisters, Princess Ashraf and Princess Chams, escorted the bride to the wedding scene. Soldiers guarded the palace for blocks around.

Two small daughters of court functionaries held the long train of Soraya's wedding gown as she walked up the palace staircase to the shah's study, where the ceremony took place.

A few moments later, the newlyweds emerged and walked into the glittering Hall of Mirrors to receive foreign diplomats and high government officials. Only members of the royal family, relatives of the bride and a few dignitaries were present at the ceremony itself.

Orders free food for poor.

By the shah's order, free food will be distributed to the poor.

The heads of friendly nations have observed the event by sending sumptuous presents.

President Truman sent a crystal vase inscribed with American legendary heroes. From Britain's King George VI came a pair of solid silver candelabra of the Georgian period. The British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., which has huge petroleum holdings in this country, gave a hospital worth 25,000 pounds ($70,000) as a wedding present.

350 Attend Theater Guild's Version Of 'Charley's Aunt'

VICTORIANS may have been pruddish but "Charley's Aunt" was anything but that, as the Tri-State Theater Guild presented its version of that old stage hit Saturday night in the Memorial Auditorium, under auspices of the Pleasant Heights Parent-Teacher Association.

An estimated 350 persons chuckled to the side-splitting antics of Joseph Hutchison, masquerading as "Charley's Aunt," from Brazil, and the cast of nine others.

Admirably suited to his dual role, he appeared equally at ease in trousers or skirt—he was wearing both through most of the play. His red curls were a knock-out, so was his unladylike stride. He even received a couple of proposals of marriage.

Agnes Cleland succeeded in landing Bill Hall, and Mary Lou Woomer promised to wait for John Norman.

Other twosomes planning trips to the altar when the play ended were Emily McTeague and Mr. Hutchison, and Julian Barclay and Elizabeth Creese.

That left just about everybody fixed up but the butler, Joe Chestnut, and Alton West, as Stephen Spettigue — father of Miss Cleland and guardian of Miss Woomer—who was mad at somebody through at least three-fourths of the play. Both men turned in first rate performances.

So did Mr. Hall and Mr. Norman, the boys from Oxford University, who were the central figures in the whole affair. When "Charley's Aunt" failed to put in an appearance, they forced Mr. Hutchison to impersonate the old gal in order not to disappoint the guests.

The women held up their end of the plot in a manner to be commended. They looked quite fetching in gowns dating back to the Gay Nineties, and at one time the property of a grandmother of Mrs. J. Donald Thompson.

Don't Tamper With Families, Groups Urged

Christian Education Leaders Denounce Use As 'An Asset'

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12 (AP)—It's time organizations stopped thinking of the family as an asset mainly for their use, American Christian education leaders were told today.

Rev. J. C. Wynn of Philadelphia, associate director of adult work for the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., said this attitude is weakening the American home.

He spoke at the annual meeting of the division of Christian Education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. He said:

"It is high time that institutions and organizations stop tampering with family life. Too long have schools and clubs, businesses and governments, yes and ill-advised church groups also, thought of the family as an asset to be used.

"This has been a divisive influence, weakening the American home and threatening its very life."

Mr. Wynn spoke at three sectional sessions of the annual meeting.

Another group speaker was Miss Esther Stamats of New York City of the general department of United Church Women, National Council of Churches. She also told of the role of the modern-day family, saying:

"Our social and political life is conducted with no consideration for families. Further, it is the expectation that families can make all of the concessions and adjustments."

Dr. Truman B. Douglass, executive vice-president of the Board of Home Missions of the Congregational Christian Churches, spoke last night as the sessions opened.

He said Christian education must complete the "woefully incomplete teaching" children get today and strengthen the working alliance of church and home.

Uniform Traffic Laws Urged To Cut Death Toll

CHICAGO (UP)—The Council of State Governments says the highway death toll could be cut by adoption of uniform traffic laws.

"A diversity of traffic regulations encountered within one or two hundred miles and changes in traffic laws found as one travels across state lines are confusing and hazardous," the council reported.

"Where necessary, legislation should require counties and municipalities to conform to state and national vehicle codes."

The council recommended that unified, statewide traffic court systems be established, or if that is not feasible, that special courts for traffic cases.

The United Nations Get Pushed Around

TELEVISION, it is pretty generally agreed, came of age last summer when it broadcast to all the cities on the cable the Jakob Malik debates with Warren Austin and Sir Gladwyn Jebb in the United Nations. These broadcasts, in point of drama, historic importance and popular interest, were easily the outstanding contributions made by television in 1950. For the first time television began to live up to its promise as a great mass educational communications medium.

But that was last summer when the sponsors pretty generally had taken to the beaches and when there wasn't much on the air anyway. This winter, with well-heeled sponsors all over TV, the situation has changed radically. On Jan. 30, around 10:15 p. m., the United Nations political committee took a vote on the United States resolution branding Communist China an aggressor. The resolution passed by a vote of 44 to 7. It was the top news story in most papers the next morning.

WNYC, the New York City municipal station, carried the debate up until 10 o'clock, when it went off the air. A.B.C. cut in to carry the actual vote.

No other radio and no television stations carried any of the debate after 7 o'clock. The U.N., which has its own facilities, broadcast the session to Europe and the broadcast was available to any local radio or TV stations that wanted it. None did. The networks were too busy carrying Rate Your Mate, an audience participation show; Big Town, which is full of tall talk about the responsibilities of journalism; a crime program called Danger; The Amateur Hour, and a lot of other trifles which have bankrolls attached to the other end of them.

As far as television is concerned, the United Nations has been a stepchild all winter. Actually the U.N. has been broadcast on one or several of the TV networks almost every day. But you'll have a terrible time finding it.

At the request of the networks, newspapers have stopped listing the U.N. broadcasts. The networks, it seems, don't want to make up their minds until the last minute and don't want to be tied down in the event that a commercial program shows up.

However, if they have nothing else on the agenda, the TV networks will broadcast the United Nations and then take credit in their program logs for performing a conspicuous public service.

This will be displayed to the Federal Communications Commission if and when any embarrassing questions about public service are asked. As long as the public is kept in the dark as to where and when the U.N. can be heard, the service to them is a doubtful one.

THE SITUATION will get worse as time goes on. Right now, there are still stretches of unsponsored time on daytime television. Eventually this will be gobbled up and then the United Nations or Congress or conceivably even the President will have great difficulty elbowing the soap companies out of the way long enough to get any sort of message on the air.

Just a week or so ago Justin Miller, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, appeared at the F.C.C. hearings in Washington to oppose the reservation of 20 per cent of television channels for educators.

Judge Miller declared that he was heartily in favor of television being used as an educational medium, but felt that commercial licensees could do it better.

This is hardly the point. There's no doubt but that commercial broadcasters, with their know-how and facilities, could do a whale of a job of education by television.

But will they do it, if Procter & Gamble is offering cash money for a soap opera? "The kind of education that has been done already in this medium by commercial licensees is very impressive," said Judge Miller, who went on to cite as a particularly glorious example "the now-famous U.N. telecasts". Well, they were impressive as long as they lasted. But they didn't last very long.

A low-cost menu for lunch is one that includes tomato juice, stuffed egg salad, hot biscuits and jam and milk. Mother, as well as the youngsters in the family, should have a glass of milk at noon.

Drive Begun For Lausche

Publisher Backs Him For Presidency

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12 (AP)—Members of the Ohio legislature returned for a final splurge of bill-offering in the House today to find a Lausche-for-president drive underway.

Representative Robert W. Reider (D) of Ottawa County, weekly newspaper publisher, launched what he termed a one-man campaign to send three-term Governor Frank J. Lausche to the White House in the 1952 election.

The vehicle was a signed page one editorial in a special "Capitol Edition" of his Ottawa County News. He printed extra copies for all senators and representatives and said he will send others to every newspaper and radio station in the nation.

Democratic party leaders will receive reprints, he said, to focus national attention on "the man best qualified to lead America in this critical and trying period in world history".

He described Mr. Lausche as a "political natural", and said:

"It is the civic responsibility of all public spirited citizens of Ohio to launch an immediate direct mail and word-of-mouth campaign that will carry a forceful Lausche message into each of the 48 states and place Ohio's extremely able governor on the presidential path."

Mr. Reider told newsmen he hasn't discussed his campaign with Mr. Lausche or state and national Democrat leaders. He said it was prompted by personal admiration of the governor.

G.O.P. Veteran Dies

ABERDEEN, O., Feb. 12—John C. Martin, 81-year-old chairman of the Brown county Republican committee, died at his near-by Huntington Township farm yesterday. He also was the oldest member of the G.O.P. state committee and had served the longest time on it, being in his 14th term.

Latest figures indicate that there are 3,550,000 tractors on U. S. farms.

DEFIANCE HOUSEWIFE LOSES EXCESS WEIGHT, RENNEL HELPS

"I can well recommend Rennel Concentrate" writes Mrs. Lydia Memmer, 1336 Ayersville Ave., Defiance, Ohio. "Not only have I lost 24 lbs. since taking Rennel, but I have found it a wonderful aid to regularity. I can eat all I want, yet lose weight and feel fine. I am a Christian, may God bless you."

Thousands of others have overcome the social and physical discomfort of being overweight with this effective home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. No expensive vitamins to fortify your system from weakness while going without food for you can eat normally. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple easy way to lose pounds of bulky fat and help regain slender, more youthful curves—if reducible excess fat doesn't seem to disappear almost like magic just return the empty bottle to the manufacturer for your money back. Insist on Rennel.

Five Bills Ask Tax Boosts To Help Teachers

Education Group Sees $14,150,000 From Measures

CHARLESTON, W Va., Feb. 12 (AP)—Five bills to increase taxes to provide revenue for proposed teacher salary increases and other educational purposes were introduced in the House today by Delegate Blankenship (D) of Wyoming County.

An estimated $14,150,000 would be realized annually, the West Virginia Education Association, backer of the bills, said.

The W.V.E.A. said the measures are intended to spread the tax burden as evenly as possible between consumers and business.

The measures are only suggestions for funds to help pay for increased education costs, it emphasized.

An additional 2-cent-a-pack tax would be levied on cigarettes, starting June 30, and another would eliminate the 50-cent deduction on consumer's sales taxes on grocery purchases and would broaden the consumer's tax to affect domestic consumers of gas, electricity and water.

The gross sales tax on manufactured and compound products would be increased from three-tenths of 1 per cent to 45 hundredths of 1 per cent. Truckers with a gross income of $10,000 to $25,000 would have an increase from 1½ per cent to 3 per cent on their gross income and those with a gross income of more than $25,000 would get a boost to 4 per cent. A tax of 1½ per cent is now paid by all truckers.

The exemption on gross sales tax payments would be raised from $50 to $100 and the 10 per cent deduction on gross sales taxes now allowed would be eliminated.

Youth Confesses Michigan Fire In Bid To Beat Draft

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 12 (AP)—Michigan's state office building is a charred, icy ruin because a teen-aged father just couldn't face the thought of leaving his wife and baby to go into military service.

Full of remorse over the four-million-dollar fire that burned 45 hours and all but halted operation of the state government, 19-year-old Richard C. Shay is jailed pending a formal arson charge. He is a state Highway Department employee.

He admitted Saturday night, Prosecutor Paul C. Younger said, that he set the blaze because he thought "a little fire" would get him a probationary sentence and keep him out of the Army.

Actually, said draft officials, young Shay was in no danger of being inducted, although he had received orders to take a pre-induction physical. His 18-year-old wife, Roberta, and their 7-month-old daughter were ample exemptions, said Chairman Dwight C. Rich of the Ingham county draft board.

"But the fellows in my department kept telling me I would be in the trenches in a couple of months," Shay told police.

"I'd enlist tomorrow if I thought they needed me. But I needed another year so my family would have enough to live on if I was called into service."

Young Shay, who was an Eagle Scout and had an honorable discharge after 18 months in the naval reserve, told of touching a match to some cotton cord in the building's micro-film office just before noon Thursday.

He told police he went home to lunch, but hurried back and found "terrific heat and smoke". He turned in the alarm.

A Citizen Makes An Appeal

Letter Asks West Virginia To Boost Teacher Pay

TO MY NEIGHBORS
IN WEST VIRGINIA

IT SEEMS to me that, among the many problems that are perplexing we citizens today, there is one domestic condition that is being overlooked.

This is public education.

I have the feeling that the community influence on the public schools has been lost in West Virginia because of the county supervision. Regardless of this, the facts prove that our school facilities have not kept pace with the increased student body, and teachers' income has not kept pace with economic requirements.

A state survey indicates 21 per cent of the classrooms are overcrowded, so that we need additional buildings, plus replacement of inadequate classrooms. This condition will get worse because of the increased birth rate.

Hancock county is much better than many counties, but any improvement seems to require state assistance.

Under present conditions, the compensation is such that there is little incentive for qualified college students to be interested in teaching. In fact, the present salary schedule places our state 36th in the United States in the amount we spend for our teachers.

We, in industry, know that low wages don't provide good work, or contented workmen. The same is even more true in educational work. It is a strange thing, but we actually "gripe" less about what we pay baby sitters than what we pay our school teachers.

We are becoming more conscious these days of our social obligation, and investing considerable in agencies to make our children morally better and better citizens.

The best place to make this investment would be in the school system. Surely we can afford a better form of education than we are offering today.

The figures I have seen indicate 3 per cent of our income is going to public schools. This is for the entire program—building, staff, equipment, etc.

No doubt there is plenty of waste, but surely the taxpayers are not being "milked". School teachers are a large segment of the so-called "white collar" group, whose income has not kept pace with the increased cost of living.

We must make our state legislature conscious of our desire to improve our public schools. There must be some way to solve this problem, either by direct or indirect taxation.

The West Virginia Legislature is not giving much consideration this term to public schools. They seem to be concentrating on the veterans' bonus and state roads. The citizens indicated at the polls last fall that these projects were to be taken care of with priority, but they certainly didn't intend that our schools were to be passed up with no consideration to the expanding needs.

At the moment the best thing we parents can do is contact our state legislators, County Board members, and the teachers and indicate our desire to see the facilities expanded, and pay levels adjusted to respectable levels. This may not be classed as a patriotic duty, but it certainly is the duty of a good citizen and parent.

ROBERT E. BOYCE,
Harker Pottery Co.,
Chester, W. Va.

The Teachers' Program In A Nutshell

West Virginia's school teachers, worried because their salaries can't keep up with the cost of living, have asked the legislature at Charleston to put through a bill providing $9,200,000 in pay increases. At the same time, the teachers have asked that their pay period be spread over 10 months, instead of nine at present. Their aim is to increase the base pay for teachers with four years of college training from $1,800 a year, the present base, to $2,400 a year. Comparable increases would be granted in higher brackets.

A Bread-And-Butter Issue

Here's Story Behind Fight On Security Interest Rate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—The hot argument about interest rates on government securities may look tiresomely complex, but it's a real bread-and-butter issue.

Behind it all is this question: How can the government manage things so the huge defense spending won't shoot the cost of living through the roof and deal crippling blows to the nation's economy?

All sides agree that credit controls are an important factor in tackling this problem, but when it comes down to details there is no agreement.

Here's a bit of background to help towards understanding the row.

About 450 billion dollars are owed by debtors in this country—and the biggest debtor of them all is the U. S. government. It owes more than half that huge sum. Most of the debt is in the form of securities which the government has issued in return for cash.

The U. S. Treasury, headed by Secretary John W. Snyder, issues these securities. But another agency has an important part in the picture. It is the open market committee—composed of the seven Federal Reserve governors and the presidents of five big Federal Reserve banks.

For a long time, this committee has been pegging the prices of government bonds. If the treasury issues bonds with a face value of $100,000 each, for example, the committee stands ready to buy any that are not purchased by banks and other investors.

It buys at $100,000. This keeps the price steady. It also keeps the effective interest rate steady. The interest rate on long-term government bonds is 2½ per cent or so. If the market price of a $100,000 bond should decline to $98,000, for example, a person who bought at that price would be getting somewhat more than 2½ per cent.

The next time the government floated an issue it would have to set its interest rates higher than 2½ to attract sufficient buyers. And in theory at least the interest rates on bonds issued by many business firms and others would rise too.

Why? Because these private bonds, being perhaps not so gilt-edge in that lenders are not quite so sure of getting their money back, would have to carry higher interest rates to compete with the government securities.

Now a revolt has taken place within the open market committee against this policy of shoring up government bonds and keeping interest rates down.

Some of the participants in the revolt aren't saying much publicly, but one of them, Marriner S. Eccles, a member of the Federal Reserve board of governors, has said a lot.

His argument in simplified form is:

Letting interest rates rise is a method approved by many economists to help curb an inflationary lending and spending spree.

Modest declines in the prices of government securities, he says, would deter banks from selling those they hold to raise cash to put out on loans. A bank wouldn't want to sell a bond for less than it paid for it.

If inflation were curbed, the government could save a lot of money because the prices of things it buys wouldn't be so high.

Secretary Snyder, who is backed by President Truman, isn't having any of these arguments. He says:

The record shows that small increases in interest rates (nobody appears to be thinking of any big boosts) will not in fact stop inflationary borrowing. The slight extra cost of getting a loan would be puny against profits foreseen from use of the money.

But, he says, even a rise of a half of 1 per cent in the average interest rate the government pays on its securities would add $1,250,000,000 a year to its interest costs. Interest already costs the government nearly $6,000,000,000 a year, or almost one-twelfth of the budget.

In opposing Mr. Eccles' views, President Truman is tangling anew with a man he demoted three years ago from the Federal Reserve Board chairmanship.

But the fight has put on the hotfest spot of all Thomas B. McCabe, the Republican industrialist whom Mr. Truman brought in from Philadelphia in 1948 to replace Mr. Eccles as chairman.

The President and Mr. Snyder have both said in effect that they understood Mr. McCabe had committed himself to back Mr. Snyder. But although Mr. McCabe has avoided open conflict with the administration, reports say he has lined up with Mr. Eccles. In his only public utterance on the subject lately, he endorsed a call by 400 economists for "some rise of interest rates".

Reports have it that eight members of the open market committee are for higher rates and four against.

Who will win the fight is not entirely clear, though the betting is on the Truman-Snyder side. Federal Reserve authorities are not obligated by any law to follow the treasury line, but they show no sign of actually assuming the risk of letting government bond prices drop unless Congress so directs.

Minnie The Elephant Gets A New Friend

CHICAGO (UP) — Minnie still misses her old roommate, Nancy, but her grief is being assuaged somewhat by a new companion.

Minnie is an elephant at the Brookfield Zoo. She showed elephantine sorrow in January when her old friend died at the age of 30.

To help her overcome her grief, the zoo director, Robert Bean, gave her a new friend, Baby Brookfield, aged 5. Minnie is 19.

"Loneliness hits elephants hard," Mr. Bean said. "Although they may look tough and strong, even in their natural habitat they live together in family groups."

Video Goes Way Back R.C.A. Executive Says

NEW YORK, (UP) — Orrin E. Dunlap Jr., vice-president of R.C.A. traces radio and television back to 640 B. C. when Thales of Miletus noticed that amber, after being rubbed, would attract straws and other light objects.

"This phenomenon of frictional electricity suggested the word 'electricity'," Mr. Dunlap in his book Dunlap's Radio & Television Almanac, "for the Greeks called amber 'electron' because of its sunny luster."

The almanac, a chronology of events leading to the development of radio and television, notes that on Nov. 1, 1950, the United States had 107 television stations, 2,160 radio broadcasting stations, 677 FM stations, 8,900,000 television receivers and 86,000,000 radio sets.

Police Chief's Fancy Hat Hijacked By His Rivals

SALT LAKE CITY (UP)—Police Chief L. C. Crowther routed out every top man on his force.

Someone had stolen his gold-braided hat.

It suddenly reappeared on his desk after an absence of several days.

During its absence, the fancy lid was photographed atop the head of the police chief of nearby Ogden.

Investigation revealed that the Ogden chief, Maurice Schooff, and Ogden's chief of detectives, William Milligan, had made a hurried trip to Salt Lake City with a hat bag during the dark of night.

3 City Children Capture Prizes For Dental Posters

Three East Liverpool school children were among Columbiana county winners in the annual poster contest sponsored by the Corydon Palmer Dental Society in observance of National Children's Dental Health Day.

First prize of $5 in his age group went to John Funkle of Lincoln School, and Bruce Jones of Taft School received honorable mention in the same division. Joe Parsons, also of Lincoln School, won second in his division.

The grand prize winner was Kent Fusselman of Warren, wose poster was judged the most outstanding submitted from Columbiana, Mahoning and Trumbull counties.

Robert Wolf of Lincoln School, Lisbon, received an honorable mention and several Salem youngsters were among the prize winners.

All the winners and pupils from each school in the three counties submitting outstanding posters will be guests of the society Tuesday night at the Youngstown Elks Club.

The posters will then be returned to their home community for display in local store windows, according to R. Jay Kinsey, county chairman.

THE NATIONAL GAS SHORTAGE

What We Are Doing About It In Your Community And How You Can Help

The whole country has been experiencing an almost unprecedented cold wave.

Gas wells, even in Texas, have frozen and become unworkable. Millions of people have suffered.

The Columbia Gas System and your gas company are doing everything possible to get more gas to you. As soon as we can squeeze another cubic foot out of our pipes, you'll get it.

Every man in the gas industry is working with every means in his power to bring more gas to you.

Gas for industrial and commercial purposes has been drastically curtailed in order to provide the utmost gas for you.

In the meantime, here's how you, too, can help.

1. Shut off heat in and close every possible spare room.
2. Keep room temperatures at a very minimum.
3. Postpone any washing, laundering or ironing requiring use of gas.
4. Use cooking ranges as little as possible—not for room-heating purposes.

★ ★ ★

WHAT CAUSED THIS GAS SHORTAGE IN YOUR AREA?

1. Average temperatures are running 8 to 10 degrees below normal.
2. Over 12 billion cubic feet of gas expected from suppliers in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma were not received due to unavoidably delayed construction of pipelines from those areas.
3. The war in Korea caused industrial requirements alone to run at over 50,000,000 cubic feet per day more than expected.
4. Therefore, our gas stored underground is over 30 billion cubic feet less than needed.
5. Because of the railroad strike we have been unable to replenish immediately our supplies of propane gas, used for just such emergencies. These are now near exhaustion.

These are the conditions, all beyond our control, which have caused your local gas shortage.

Pianist Rides Tractor Onto Music Hall Stage

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 12 (AP)—To the cheers of thousands, Pianist Rudolf Serkin rode into the wings at the usually austere Academy of Music aboard a brand new tractor. No doubt it was the strangest exit ever seen in hallowed halls of music.

The tractor was given to Mr. Serkin, who runs a Vermont farm as a sideline to playing on the concert stage and teaching at the Curtis Institute of Music, by the Philadelphia Orchestra Association. It was presented in thanks for Mr. Serkin's offer to play without pay at a benefit concert Saturday night.

"It's wonderful," Mr. Serkin said afterward.

"The audience and the critics felt the same way about Mr. Serkin's tour de force—the playing of three piano concertos, accompanied by Conductor Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra. None could remember when a pianist had undertaken so much in one evening.

Home-Flower Show To Fill Big Ohio Hall

Cleveland Gets Set For Annual Displays Starting On Feb. 24

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12—Sounds of saws and hammers filled Public Auditorium today as crews of carpenters began building three full-sized houses indoors in preparation for the opening of the 1951 edition of the annual Cleveland Home and Flower Show, Feb. 24 through March 4.

This early start on the construction of the Homeland Section of the Home and Flower Show enabled the craftsmen to carry on their work without disturbing the other shows and events which are scheduled in the Public Hall between now and the opening of the Home and Flower Show.

Again this big exposition of homes and gardens will occupy every inch of the 195,000 square feet of space in the seven great halls of Public Auditorium.

A big slice of the woods, streams and flower gardens of all outdoors is being assembled in one vast spectacle in the coming Home and Flower Show, which is expected to attract even greater crowds from the entire Midwest than last year's show, which had a paid attendance of more than 210,000.

Under the direction of the Florists Association of Greater Cleveland, the Main Arena will provide a preview of Spring at its best. There will be 10 practical idea flower gardens, in addition to the special floral arrangements that will be assembled from all parts of the nation.

Across the stage end of the great hall will be a woodland vista that includes an 18-foot waterfall and a quiet pool in the midst of all the familiar flowers of spring: bluebells, violets, trilliums, jack-in-the-pulpits, adder's tongues, bloodroot, and even blooming azaleas to provide color point to the scene.

Hundreds of exhibitors from all parts of the nation will begin on Feb. 20 setting up their displays of the latest in building materials, appliances, furnishings and equipment.

Icebergs Kayo Whales, Fishermen Bag 16

WAKKANAI, Japan, Feb. 12 (AP)—Sixteen careless whales were cruising along today, not paying much attention to the hazards of sea travel.

They bumped into a cluster of small icebergs off the northern tip of Hokkadido Island. Every one of the whales was knocked cold.

Along came some poor Japanese fishermen and bagged all 16. The whales, 20 to 30 feet long, were valued at $10,000.

License Needed After Feb. 15 For Buildings

Federal Restrictions To Grow Tougher In Commercial Category

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (INS)—Construction of new banks, offices, hotels and other commercial buildings will drop approximately one-third this year as a result of government controls.

Officials estimate that money spent on commercial projects will fall to about 900 million dollars in 1951, as compared with one billion, 300 million last year.

The cut in output will result mainly from stringent controls imposed by the national production authority. After Feb. 15, builders must obtain an NPA license to start work.

Generally, all areas really in need of any of 10 types of commercial projects will receive an NPA license, following the filing of an application at the local agency offices throughout the country.

The license merely will indicate NPA approval of the project; it will not permit a contractor to obtain materials on a priority basis.

Officials say that large cities probably will be hit hardest by the regulations, since they already have an ample number of office buildings and other commercial structures.

NPA expects to issue most of the licenses in small towns and around military camps and new industrial centers.

The licensing system also is slated for other roles in the mobilization program.

Officials say that, once the procedure is set up, the government will extend it to cover non-defense industrial and manufacturing plants.

In a move to limit this type of construction, NPA will order contractors to obtain the same license commercial builders must receive to build.

The directive would affect such things as toy factories, and plants manufacturing non-defense articles, including decorations and novelty items.

Government Sets Up Critical Defense Areas

Government housing experts are working on the designation of critical defense areas, and from present indications they will be small, compact units rigidly controlled.

It will be these areas that will get first call on construction in the months to come as the mobilization program rolls forward.

Officials say they are going to be so restrictive on the areas that it may result in one part of a city being designated as a defense area and the other portions excluded.

The defense area will figure importantly in housing later this year.

Under present plans, the government plans to make available easy home financing in the areas through direct federal grants and guaranteed loans.

The National Association of Home Builders says that before the housing bill is passed, the government should relax credit controls on home buying as a preliminary step.

NAHB points out that in the interim period many construction workers may leave their jobs and obtain work in expanding industries.

To keep them in their present jobs, the association says the government should attempt to stimulate home output instead of curtailing the industry.

Better Plumbing Or Wiring Isn't Too Hard To Have

Although the electric wiring and plumbing pipes are hidden in the walls and floors of a house, it is relatively easy today to modernize an outmoded or inadequate plumbing or electrical system.

Skilled workmen are able, by the use of flexible copper tubing, to install a completely new water supply system with relatively little tearing out of walls.

The tubing is pushed through small openings made in the interior finish and run downward through the stud spaces or horizontally between joists. If obstructions are encountered, such as solid fire-stops in walls or floors, another small opening is made over the obstruction and it is cut to admit passage of the tubing.

After the new tubing is in place and connected to the fixtures, the old pipe system is disconnected and left in the walls.

Additional electrical circuits can be provided in the same manner by pulling wires through the walls and beneath floors.

Before beginning this work, the house should be thoroughly examined by a competent contractor who will determine if it is economically practical.

PIPE THAT PIPE—Insulating covers save heat.

THOROUGH insulation will increase the efficiency of any heating system and cut your fuel bills down accordingly.

Winter is the best time to insulate hot water and steam pipes and warm air ducts. You will find all of them dry, easy to clean and they will take insulation better while they are warm.

Some people forego this insulation because they want a warm basement. But that is expensive and inefficient. A separate heating outlet for the basement is more sensible. Or in the case of warm air systems, leaving return ducts uncovered, often supplies enough warmth for the basement.

Insulating covers for pipes are usually made of corrugated or cellular asbestos, mineral wool and other fire-resistant materials. They are pre-shaped as hollow cylinders, encased in canvas, and fastened with metal bands.

You can get these in sections three feet long. They are split lengthwise on one side to permit slipping them over a pipe. They can be obtained from your heating contractor or local hardware store for various pipe sizes.

Be sure that all pipes to be covered are cleaned and in good condition. Elbows and T joints are packed with asbestos cement. This should be mixed with only enough water to make it workable.

The first coat, about an inch thick, is applied with your hands, or a plasterer's trowel. Scratch the surface to leave it as rough as possible in order to provide a bond for the finishing coat.

When the first coat is dry, the second coat about half-an-inch thick, is applied and smoothed off. Canvas similar to that on pipe coverings can be wrapped over this plaster to give a neat appearance.

Asbestos cement also is used to cover steam boilers. A 100-pound bag will cover 20 to 25 feet, one-inch thick. Ten-pound bags are available for small jobs.

In covering a boiler, allow the first coat to become almost dry, then stretch wire mesh over it and apply the second coat. The stretching of the mesh may cause some cracks in the undercoat, but the mesh will reinforce both coats.

Corrugated asbestos paper or similar insulators are used for warm air ducts. These coverings are applied in three layers. Measure around the duct and allow about an inch and a half more for overlap. After tying this layer around the duct, measure over it for the second layer and its overlap. Then measure over the second layer for the third. The ends of each layer should be staggered and wire binding or metal bands should be spaced every 18 inches or so to secure the job.

Check Furnace To See If It's Burning Right

Inspection of the inside of a furnace during the heating season is a good idea. If excessive soot has accumulated it may mean inefficient combustion or wrong type of fuel.

Directions supplied by manufacturers should be carefully followed for all automatic heating plants, such as oil-burners, mechanical stokers and gas heaters. Such instructions are based on experience and field tests.

Sheltered Entrance Popularity Returns

Sheltered entrances are becoming increasingly more popular for homes, while the trend is away from vestibules.

The influence of the ranch-type for this. Hallways literally have become a part of livingrooms in most so-called ranch style houses, into this room rather than into a vestibule or well-defined hallway.

A sheltered entrance, which is usually an overhang or extension of the roof, is then necessary to provide protection from the elements to anyone standing at the entrance.

Newell Beats Blacksville, 52-37, To Ring Up 8th Win

Newell rebounded from its defeat at Moundsville to turn back the Clay-Battelle basketeers Saturday night at Blacksville, 52-37.

The Big Green led all the way, although they had to fight off a belated rally by the home team which climbed to within seven points of the winners in the fourth period.

It was the eighth victory for Coach John Robison's cagers in 12 games. They meet Salineville Tuesday night on the Indians' court in a return game and then entertain a strong Logan quintet Friday night.

The Wells High passers, somewhat off their shooting form, held quarter leads of 12-6, 26-14 and 36-25. After Blacksville closed all but seven points of the gap in the final stanza, Ron Laneve, Ron Johnson and Jim McDevitt racked up quick goals to pull the Big Green out of danger.

Ron Laneve paced the scoring with 21 markers. John Laneve, who fouled out in the third quarter, and Johnson bagged 12 each.

Newell also lost Don Reppard and Frank Manganno on fouls in the final period.

B. Wilson's 14 counters sparked the home team.

Irondale Gets Dillonvale As Tourney Foe

STEUBENVILLE, Feb. 12 (Special) — Irondale, winner of four and loser of 11 during the regular season, will meet third-seeded Dillonvale here Thursday night at 6:30 in a first round game of the annual Jefferson County Class "B" Basketball Tournament.

The tourney, which will extend through Saturday, Feb. 24, will be staged at Steubenville High School.

In a draw held Sunday afternoon, Mt. Pleasant was seeded No. 1, Springfield Township No. 2, Dillonvalle No. 3 and Smithfield, the defending champion, No. 4.

In the opening game Wednesday night, Mt. Pleasant will clash with Yorkville at 7:30, with Springfield and Adena hooking up in the second attraction.

Following the Irondale-Dillonvale fray Thursday, Smithfield will tangle with Brilliant, and in a third game the Mt. Pleasant-Yorkville loser will meet the Springfield-Adena loser in the first contest in the consolation bracket.

Saturday's schedule will show Wayne against the winner of the Mt. Pleasant-Yorkville game at 7:30 and the loser of the Irondale-Dillonvale affair against the loser of the first consolation tilt in another consolation bracket battle.

Action then will be resumed Thursday, Feb. 22 at 7:30 when the consolation semi-finals will be run off. It will be followed by the championship semi-finals, and on Saturday, Feb. 24 finals in both the consolation and championship brackets will be staged.

C. P. Henderson, superintendent of Irondale Schools and director of the tournament, conducted the draw.

Officials for the tourney will be Bill Jenkins, Paul Whyte and Howard Knutsen, all of Steubenville.

Admission for both adults and students will be 50 cents for all sessions except the finals when it will be 60 cents, Mr. Henderson announced.

The Steubenville Chamber of Commerce will donate a trophy to the champion. Trophies also will be awarded the runner-up and the consolation champion and runner-up. Superintendents of the county will award a trophy to the team which shows the best sportsmanship.

Ohioans Kill 2,150 Deer In 19 Counties

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12 (UP) —Ohio hunters killed 2,150 deer in the four-day open season in 19 counties this fall, the State Wildlife Division reported today.

Dr. Floyd Chapman, assistant game management chief, estimated that farmers hunting on their own farms without licenses killed 900 more.

The overall total was about the same as in 1948, the last previous open season, Chapman said.

A total of 23,121 deer-hunting permits was sold for $115,605.

Earl Brown's Ousted As Auburn Grid Coach

AUBURN, Ala., Feb. 12 (AP) —Blaming alumni pressure built up during three losing seasons, Earl M. Brown today was ousted as Auburn's head football coach.

The faculty athletic committee and President Ralph B. Draughton yesterday terminated his contract effective today. The committee voted to pay him in full for the remainder of the agreement period, which ends Jan. 31, 1952.

The Southeastern Conference Tigers won only three games while Brown was head coach, losing 22 and tying four. They lost every game last season for the worst football year in Auburn history.

The 35-year-old former Notre Dame star end was brought to Auburn from Canisius College in 1948. He replaced Carl Voyles who took over the Tigers in 1944 and stepped down after four poor years.

A committee statement said it had "exhausted every hope of stabilizing" Auburn's football situation without recommending a change.

Chester Methodist stands as the only undefeated team in the Y. M. C. A. Junior Church Basketball League after Saturday night's action.

Pace-setters in the National Division, the Chester cagers whacked First Methodist, 26-8, to ring up their sixth straight victory as Second United Presbyterian dropped into a tie for second place by losing its first game to Second Christian, 18-12. The Christians also have a grip on the runner-up slot.

The American Division became snarled as First Presbyterian, unbeaten until Saturday, fell before Chester Christian, 24-19. Newell First Presbyterian downed Second Presbyterian, 10-6, and First Nazarene walloped St. Aloysius, 27-10, to throw first place into a four-way tie.

In other National Division games, Calvary Methodist tripped St. Stephen's, 15-11, and Boyce Methodist trounced Orchard Grove Methodist, 29-5.

Other action in the American loop found First U. P. lacing First Baptist, 29-6, and Anderson Methodist winnning on a forfeit from LaCroft Nazarene.

Scoring laurels for the night went to Shertzinger of First U. P. who poured in 22 points. Boley of Boyce Methodist bagged 16 markers to lead National Division scorers.

Salem Noses Out Alliance Five, 62-61

SALEM, Feb. 12 (Special)—Salem's sophomore sensation, George Alek, banged in a last-second field goal here Saturday night to give the Quakers a hard-earned 62-61 victory over an oft-beaten Alliance quintet.

It was the 13th victory for Coach John Cabas' crew in 15 games. The Aviators, who dropped their second game to the Quakers this season, fell to their seventh loss in 12 starts.

The teams were deadlocked, 15-15, at the end of the first quarter, but Alliance forged to the front at the half, 34-31, and held a 47-46 edge at the end of the three periods.

Bob Coy meshed 19 points to lead the Quakers, with Bob Theiss pocketing 17, Alek 12, and Jim Callahan 11. Johnny Borton, "Candy" Carroll and Vic Domencetti each looped 13 markers for the Aviators.

West Virginia's 13th Golden Gloves Tourney Opens

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Feb. 12 (AP)—West Virginia's annual ring extravaganza — the 13th regional Golden Gloves boxing tournament — opens tonight in the Huntington Memorial Field House.

Sectional champions from Bluefield, Logan, Williamson and Parkersburg were to weigh in today, completing the formalities and making the total number of entries close to 140.

Eighty-five took their physicals yesterday.

Twenty or more bouts will be held tonight. Tomorrow night's program also will be crowded, with the number of bouts tapering off Wednesday and Thursday. The five-day tournament ends with the championship finals Friday night.

Open division winners will go to the eastern Golden Gloves championship in New York Feb. 26-28.

Five former open-class champions were among those passing physicals yesterday. They were:

Hosea Chapman of Huntington, 1950 lightheavy champ, entered as a heavyweight this year.

Billy Miller of Huntington, 1949 lightweight titlist, who did not compete last year.

Denver Beckner of Parkersburg, 1950 lightweight champion.

Bill Tibbs of Parkersburg, 1949 champ and 1950 runner-up in the featherweight division.

And Johnny Osborne of Highcoal, flyweight champ in 1947.

More than 7,000 fight fans will be able to see this year's tournament, held for the first time in the new Memorial Field House.

30 Cleveland Rookies Pack Bats, Balls And Gloves For Tucson, Spring Training

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12 (AP)—Thirty kids who play for the Cleveland Indians, dreaming typical rookie dreams of baseball stardom, started getting their gear together today for the trip to Tucson, Ariz. and spring training.

Practice for the rookies—16 from Cleveland's farm clubs and 14 on the Indians' roster—starts Thursday. Of these, General Manager Hank Greenberg says perhaps as many as three or four have a chance to make the team.

This may be the last year that the Indians will train at Tucson.

Before he left for the training base today, Ellis Ryan, the president, admitted a change is being considered.

"Frankly," he said, "I'm not sure where the club will train next year."

Sources close to the club said Daytona Beach, Fla. ranks high on the possible sites. That is where the team's farm hands now train.

Ryan expects to stay in Tucson until shortly after March 1, when Cleveland's regulars start training. He expects to pick up Red Ruffing, the Indians' coach of young pitchers and a former New York Yankee star, in Chicago.

Greenberg and the rest of the Indians' official family will fly to Tucson Wednesday. Of the rookies he'll be looking over he said:

"It wouldn't surprise me a bit if some of these kids make the team. We could probably make room for two young pitchers, an infielder and maybe a catcher."

This is the first year the Indians have included farmhands in spring training plans. The club considers it worth the expense to give its new manager Al Lopez an opportunity to appraise the talent at his disposal in the farm system.

Among the trainees will be Pitcher Dick Rozek, technically classified a veteran because he spent the entire 1950 season with the Indians. The 23-year-old southpaw had an 0-0 record last year and needs additional training.

In the search for more pitching help, Lopez is expected to pay particular attention to the performances of right-handers Bob Chakales and Charles Sipple. Chakales had a 16-5 record last year for Wilkes-Barre and won the most valuable player award in the Eastern League. Sipple won 16 games for Oklahoma City.

Other pitchers listed for careful notice are George Zuverink, a 20-game winner for San Diego; Gerald Fahr, a draftee from Shreveport where he won 10 games; Sam Jones, Negro hurler who won 17 for Wilkes-Barre; and Hal Saltzman, who netted 11 for San Diego despite a seige of injuries.

Harry Simpson, the powerful Negro who won slugging laurels with San Diego last summer, is probably the only rookie outfielder from Warren, O., also will train at Tucson.

But there are openings for utility infielders since Luke Easter, Bob Avila, Ray Boone and Al Rosen are the only holdovers from the 1950 squad. Newcomers Fred Marsh, Bob Wilson, Doug Hansen and Harry Malmberg will compete for utility roles with veteran Lou Klein, drafted from Los Angeles.

The Tribe has no cirtical need for catching help. However, Dick Kinaman and Hal Naragon will attempt to oust Ray Murray from the No. 3 position back of Jim Hegan and Birdie Tebbets.

Kinaman was a .285 hitter with Wilkes-Barre and Naragon, a Barberton, Ohio resident, marked .268 at Oklahoma City.

Newell Draws Tourney Bye

Newell's defending champions of Section 1 have drawn a bye in the annual Class "B" tournament, and will not see action until the finals are staged at Weirton, Feb. 24.

The draw, which was conducted Sunday, Feb. 4, was not announced immediately because the site of the third annual tournament had not been determined.

Scheduled to meet in the opening game Thursday, Feb. 22 are New Cumberland and Bethany. Newell will meet the winner the following Saturday night. Both games will start at 8.

The champion will qualify for the regional classic to be held at New Martinsville the following week. Newell has won all three sectionals.

Adult tickets will be 75 cents and student tickets 50 cents. McCracken of Wellsburg and Milliken of Beaver Falls will officiate.

LaMotta Gets Down To 160 For Title Go

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Jake La Motta, so haunted by a weight-making problem he all but roosts on his scales, has finally shaken off the ghost.

He has pared down to the 160-pound limit for defense of his middleweight crown against Sugar Ray Robinson Wednesday.

He thinks he can hold the line with a careful diet and vitamin pills until weighing in officially at 10 a. m. on fight day.

The Bronx bull now says his only worry is "conserving my strength".

As early as last Saturday—five days before he tangles with the welterweight champion in Chicago Stadium—Jake hit upon how to stock pile his energy. He would simply rest.

He called off his Saturday sparring session and went on a shopping tour for loud neckties in the loop. Yesterday he also canceled a scheduled workout, exercising only his vocal cords at a press conference. It will be just light drills today and not even that tomorrow.

Old-time ringbirds say that a five-day vacation before a title fight is unprecedented.

"I don't care what they say," bellowed Jake. "The lower in weight I get the more strength I lose. Ain't that right, Doc?"

Dr. Phillip Brunori, La Motta's one-man entourage, is no man to mince words.

"Right!" he snapped.

Robinson, a 3-1 or 4-1 favorite this time, wound up his drills yesterday and weighed 153, two pounds less than he expects to carry Wednesday.

"I'm at my peak and ready to go," he said.

The nationally televised and broadcast fight is shaping up as a $150,000 gate with 10,000 to 12,000 fans on hand.

NIT To Show Classy Field Next Month

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—All the talk has been about the power-packed NCAA basketball tournament. But the National Invitation Tourney, actually one year older than the NCAA meet, also will present an impressive field for its 12-team extravaganza.

Of course, the NCAA gets most of the nation's outstanding teams since winners of the 10 major conferences automatically qualify for that tournament.

Nevertheless, the NIT, originated in 1938, will have a representative field. Most of these teams will come from the independent ranks.

High on the list for NIT berths are St. John's, Cincinnati, Duquesne, Villanova, LIU, Toledo, Seton Hall, Bowling Green, CCNY, LaSalle and Manhattan.

Then, of course, there are the runners-up in the conference races. These, too, should add lustre to the Madison Square Garden event, scheduled for March 12, 13, 15, 17. Some of these teams that may get bids are Bradley, West Virginia, St. Louis, Wyoming, Utah and Texas.

The conference winners also are eligible, and two or three may shoot for the "grand-slam" achieved by CCNY last year.

This will be one of the busiest and most interesting weeks of the campaign. Several conference scraps could be decided in the next six days.

Columbia, for instance, could assure itself of at least a tie for the Ivy League title with victories over Yale and Harvard. The Lions, only major undefeated team in the land, whipped Cornell, Saturday to bring its record to 15-0.

Kentucky is the runaway leader in the Southeastern Conference but the Wildcats will have to take the SEC post-season tourney to represent that loop in the NCAA.

With the fall of Indiana, the Big 10 race is scrambled and probably won't be decided until the final games. At the moment, Illinois holds a half-game lead over Indiana, which dropped its first league game to Minnesota, Saturday, 61-54.

Oklahoma A. & M., with a 6-0 record, holds the upper hand in the Missouri Valley race. But this is one of the country's toughest leagues and anything can happen. St. Louis (8-1) is second and Bradley (5-3) is third.

7 Hopefuls Still In Scrap For Position

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 12 (AP) —Ohio State University was due to wind up the most extensive and deliberate head football coaching hunt in its history today.

Seven hopefuls for the job vacated Dec. 9 by Wesley E. Fesler were still in the scrap this morning when the board of trustees met at 9:30 to put the stamp of approval on one of them.

Only one, Drake University's Warren Gaer, was from outside the state. Three are head college coaches, two are high school mentors, one is a college frosh coach, and the other is a professional.

And from that varied field should emerge the 19th head coach in Buckeye annals, and the sixth since 1940.

The candidates, in the order in which they were screened by a six-man committee, are Harry Strobel, OSU freshman coach; Gaer; Charles (Chuck) Mather of Masillon High; Paul E. Brown of the Cleveland professional club; Wayne (Woody) Hayes of Miami U.; Jim McDonald of Springfield High, and Sid Gillman of Cincinnati.

Don Faurot of Missouri, one of the top-flight candidates, withdrew to stay with the Tigers after being "screened", and applicant Herb Eisele of John Carroll withdrew a day ahead of his date with the interviewers.

The screening committee, after weeks of chats with the aspirants, was unable to point a finger at its No. 1 choice in two sessions last Saturday. The group had an 8 a. m. date today with the athletic board, at which it hoped to name a favorite.

The athletic committee was to pass it along to President Howard L. Bevis, who was to submit the name to the trustees. That board had to approve or reject—and if the latter occurs the hunt may go on.

There was some talk—entirely unconfirmed—that an interim or pro tem mentor might be named if the various powers cannot agree on a head coach at this time. Most prominent name in the "pro tem" field was that of Ernest L. Godfrey, who has been an assistant for more than 20 years during the regimes of the late Sam Willaman, Schmidt, Brown, Carroll Widdoes, Paul Bixler and Fesler.

Godfrey's chore would be to guide the Buckeye talent through the spring training grind, should he get an interim appointment, with a new head coach taking over when selected.

Rumors rampant around the campus had Hayes, Mather and Brown as the top candidates. However, the screening committee, athletic board and other campus officials, including Athletic Director Dick Larkins as well as the candidates, maintained a "no comment" attitude so no one was certain just what would happen.

Of the candidates McDonald and Gillman are Ohio State graduates, Strobel and Brown are Miami U. (Oxford, O.) alumni, Mather played at Ohio Northern, and Hayes at Denison. All boast long, successful coaching careers.

Harrison, Ford Tangle In Playoff

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 12 (AP)—Young Doug Ford goes after his first major championship in golf today against veteran campaigner E. J. (Dutch) Harrison when the two meet to decide first money in the $10,000 Texas Open.

Ford and Harrison each finished the 72-hole grind with 265 yesterday as Ford, the 27-year-old Briarcliff, New York, par-blaster, rammed down a 10-foot putt on the 18th green—last shot of the regular tournament—and got the birdie that gave him a three-under-par 68 and another chance at the $2,000 first prize.

The play-off will be 18 holes. The loser will get $1,400. The two also will split 50 per cent of the gate receipts.

It will be the seventh play-off for Harrison, the St. Andrews Illinois, old-timer to tournament golf. He has won only one of the six previous ones — the first, against Henry Poe at Pinehurst, N. C, in 1936.

While Ford and Harrison fight it out, most of the other touring golfers will be rolling into Harlingen for the Rio Grande Valley Open Seven flew to Mexico City last night to play in the Mexican National Open, these being headed by Jimmie Demaret of Ojai, Calif. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., another top-notcher, is on the way home where his father is seriously ill and Chick Harbert of St. Petersburg, Fla, is going home on business

Harrison threw a seven-under par 64 against Ford, who was leading the tournament to start yesterday's play. His was just one of 46 par-breaking performances in a final field of 69 that took the 6,400-yard Brackenridge Park course apart.

It was the greatest par-smashing tournament of the 24 that have been held here. In four days regulation figures were cracked 214 times. One of these performances, by Al Brosch of Garden City, N. Y., bested par by 1 stroke and his 60 was a new PGA tournament record for one round. It beat the mark of 61 set last year by Dow Fensterwald of Athens, O, in the St. Louis Open.

Brosch shot his 60 Saturday. Yesterday he had a 70 for a 72-hole total of 268 and fourth place in the tournament. He won $800.

Third was Jack Burke Jr., of Houston, who had a final round of 67 to make his total 267. Burke collected $1,000.

Unknown Kegler Wins 1st Place In Peterson Classic

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—At 3 a. m, Sunday Feb. 4, an unheralded bowler named John Quinzi of East Rochester, N. Y., wearily trudged from the Petersen tournament after posting an eight-game 1596.

His score, at that time, had taken the lead for Petersen's $8,000 first prize.

"It won't stand up at all," muttered the 29-year-old Quinzi, who owns a bowling alley "It isn't even a 200 average."

Quinzi's early morning finish withstood the efforts of some of the game's greatest pin-spillers during the final week And last night—20 days of competition and 1,952 bowlers after the marathon $48,800 meet started—Quinzi was notified he was the winner of the game's biggest jackpot

Quinzi, a former airforce officer, will receive $5,000 in cash and 12 monthly payments of $250 for a four-hour job on the lanes that disappointed him

Quinzi was nearly overtaken on the final squad last night by Norvel Martin, a 38-year-old Cincinnati veteran. Norvel, after a blistering start, faded in the final games but was still in contention until the last frame. He had a strike in the ninth frame for 209 and needed a spare and a nine count on his second ball to win in the 10th But he failed and posted 1,586 for second place worth $4.000

Winner of the concurrent De Vito meet and $3,000 first money was Ron Bergstrom of Chicago Bergstrom blasted a rousing 1,722 three weeks ago and it was never threatened.

Al Stofcho of Lyndhurst, O., took $1,400 fourth place money in the Petersen with a 1,579. In the De Vito, Larry Tuma of Lorain, O., took third place money of $1,700 with a 1,679.

Gehrmann-Wilt Duel Likely For AAU Title

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP) — There's still a chance that Don Gehrmann and Fred Wilt will meet for the National AAU championship Saturday—a happening that would lend considerable lustre to the big event.

Originally, Don, who beat Wilt for the seventh straight time in the New York A.C. Baxter Mile last Saturday, said he was going to run only in the 1,000. That would present the somewhat ludicrous situation of America's best miler, winner of 38 straight, not being the national champion in his specialty.

But today he underwent a change of heart and said that he is considering running the mile. He's entered both in the 1,000 and mile but because there are heats in the former, he won't be able to double.

"I haven't decided on what race I'll enter," said the slim University of Wisconsin graduate. "It will depend on my physical condition."

He added that his "poor" showing in the Baxter Mile, in which he barely nipped Wilt at the tape in 4:08.2 could be attributed to the fact that he had a cold for two days before the race.

Wilt changed his strategy and permitted Gehrmann to stay in front, then made his bid about two and a half laps from home. The pair ran shoulder to shoulder until the final turn, then Gehrmann inched ahead to win it by about a step.

Len Truex of Ohio State was third, Ingvar Bengtsson of Sweden fourth and Alf Holberg of the University of Tennessee fifth. John Joe Barry of Villanova, the early leader, dropped out.

Jim Fuchs of the New York A.C. also came in for a big share of the glory, beating his own world's indoor shotput record with a flip of 58 feet 3½ inches. His listed standard is 57 feet 7¾ inches.

O-I Circuit May Have Six

COLUMBUS, O, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Ohio-Indiana Baseball League, now down to five clubs, may be a six-team circuit within two weeks, says President Frank M. Colley.

Since last season, Muncie, Ind., and Portsmouth and Zanesville, both of Ohio, have lost their franchises. This left one Indiana club—Richmond—and four Ohioans—Newark, Lima, Marion and Springfield in the Class D circuit.

League directors met here yesterday. Colley said after the session that he felt a sixth member can be named at the next league meeting — scheduled for Columbus, Feb. 25.

"A major league club, which I cannot divulge, is definitely interested in placing a franchise in our league," said Colley. "Right now our future is bright."

Directors decided yesterday to abandon the post-season playoffs between the first four clubs and use instead the "split-season" system for determining the league champion. The first round will start April 22; the second on or about July 1. The two winners then will meet in a best four-of-seven series for the official league title.

The league also changed its rookie rule to permit each club to use 10 "limited service" players instead of the present seven. The number of veterans will remain at three.

Puck Bounces Off Back Of Player, Hornets Bow

By The Associated Press

We've all heard of hockey players winning games with their head. But how about a guy losing one with his back?

It happened last night in Providence, where the Rhode Island Reds nipped the Pittsburgh Hornets, 3-2, in a weird American Hockey League game.

Get the picture: The score was tied, 2-2, in the third period with a face-off deep in Pittsburgh zone. Jack McGill of Rhode Island won the draw but the puck popped into the air. It bounced off Defenseman Pete Backor's back and skidded into the net, past the straining reach of Goalie Gil Mayer.

The strange victory gave Rhode Island clear claim to third place in the Eastern Division.

In other games, Indianapolis upset Cleveland, 5-2, Buffalo shaded St. Louis, 3-2, and Hershey whipped Cincinnati, 6-2.

Two Paternity Suits Dropped Against Flynn

LOS ANGELES, Feb 12 (AP)—Seven years after they were filed, two paternity suits against Errol Flynn have been dismissed for failure to prosecute.

The suits asked that Mr. Flynn pay $1,750 a month for the support of a daughter born to Shirley Evans, then 19, Nov. 13, 1940. Mr. Flynn denied he was the father of the child, but explained he paid Miss Evans, now Mrs. Shirley Evans Hassau, wife of an orchestra leader, $2,000 to avoid unfavorable publicity.

Puzzled By Death

AKRON, Feb. 12—Sheriff's deputies said today they think Charles W. Brees, 45, committed suicide, but are puzzled by the apparent lack of motive. Mr. Brees, of Cuyahoga Falls, was manager of the industrial products textile division of the B. F Goodrich Co. His body was found in a thicket yesterday. He had been shot through the neck.

Browns Sign Tackle

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Cleveland Browns today announced the signing of Art Donovan, 245-pound tackle of the defunct Baltimore Colts. Donovan, who is 26, was drafted by the Browns at the National Football League player pool Jan. 18. He played with Boston College and was co-captain of the North team in the 1949 North-South Shriner's charity game at Miami.

Hal Newhouser of Detroit won 15 games last season to bring his lifetime total to 185 wins against 132 losses.

Nimitz Group Begins Work

Takes Oath In War On Security Issues

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—(AP)—A new study of internal security problems was launched today by a commission under Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz.

The admiral and the other eight commission members — all "distinguished citizens" in the words of President Truman—took their oaths this morning at an unusual White House function.

Mr. Truman set up the commission Jan. 23, announcing that it will consider the "question of how this nation can best deal with the problem of protecting its internal security and at the same time maintaining the freedoms of its citizens".

As members to serve under Admiral Nimitz' chairmanship he named the Rt. Rev. Karl Morgan Block, Protestant Episcopal bishop of California; the Most Rev. Emmet M. Walsh, Roman Catholic coadjutor bishop of Youngstown; Miss Anna Lord Strauss, former president of the League of Women Voters; Harvey Firestone Jr. of Akron; William E. Leahy, local attorney; John Danaher, former Republican senator from Connecticut; Charles H. Silver, New York woolen manufacturer, and Russell G. Leffingwell, former assistant secretary of the treasury.

The President told the commission, among other things, to look into the effectiveness of the federal employee loyalty and security programs, which have come under Capitol Hill criticism as being inadequate.

Wage Increase Sought By Electrical Union

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP)—A nation-wide campaign for wage increases is to be launched by the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, independent.

The U.E. announced the drive yesterday at its national conference here without giving an indication of the size of the increases it seeks.

Delegates also voted to "improve health, welfare, pension and insurance agreements and other contract clauses".

The union said the demands will affect 685 of 1,000 contracts it holds with various companies. The affected contracts, covering 210,000 workers, contain renewal clauses on wage openings and other economic issues.

A U.E. spokesman said these include contracts with the General Electric and Westinghouse companies.

According to legend, the island of Cheju off the coast of Korea was once inhabited entirely by women, men being permitted to land there once a year and take away with them all boys who had reached the age of 13.

500,000 Methodists Hear Bishop's Voice

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12 (AP) — More than 500,000 Ohio Methodists heard their bishop, Hazen G. Werner, yesterday while attending their own church.

Bishop Werner broadcast a 15-minute message to the state's 1,000 church groups. Since it was carried over a 30-radio station hookup, the potential audience was around three million.

Actually, Bishop Werner was in the Mediterranean area. The broadcast was a transcription, made before he left on an around-the-world tour.

He urged Christians to spread the gospel. This, he said, would set in motion a force for good that can have an effect on international events.

It was the first time that all of Ohio's Methodist churches were united by one broadcast, the church's public relation department said.

'Frozen Stiff' Woman 'Holds Own' In Fight

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Mae Stevens, 23, the young Negro woman who was found "frozen stiff" last week and amazed the medical profession by surviving the thawing out, "is holding her own" today.

Although she was able to say yesterday that "I'm feeling fairly well", physicians at Michael Reese Hospital described her condition as still critical.

Physicians said Mrs. Stevens has been able to move her hands and feet, but that they could not say yet whether any amputations may be necessary. That will depend, they explained, on whether gangrene develops.

A rubber tube has been inserted in her neck for feeding purposes.

It's All A Matter Of Form

Here's More Tax Help For Husbands, Wives

(This is the seventh of 12 stories explaining who has to do what about filing his 1950 income tax return.)

Associated Press Staff Writer
BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—Here's some help for married couples in choosing the right form for their 1950 income tax return. They have two big problems—A joint or separate return? What form to get the best deductions?

Some of the following points have been mentioned in previous stories but are rounded up here:

There are three forms—Form 1040-A (the collector figures your tax for you); the 1040 short form (you find your own tax in the table on Page 4), and the 1040 long form (figure your own tax on Page 3).

Only people with under—$5,000 income can use Form 1040-A—or the 1040 short form. Those who can't use form 1040-A can use the 1040 short form.

The under—$5,000 people can also use the 1040 long form if their deductions are unusually large. But the people with $5,000 or more income have no choice. They must use the 1040 long form.

You can use Form 1040-A only if your total income was under $5,000 and all of it—except for no more than $100 in untaxed wages, interest . l dividends—was in wages or salary from which full tax was withheld.

If any of your untaxed income was from any other source except those three mentioned—for instance, if it was from rents—you couldn't use form 1040-A. You could use the 1040 short form.

Example: Jones had $3,500 income, his wife $1,000. Total, $4,500. All of it, except for $100 in interest, had tax withheld from it. They can file a joint return on form 1040-A. Or, if they wish, on the 1040 short form.

Example: Smith had $3,500 income, his wife $1,000. Total $4,500. All of it except for $101 in interest, had tax withheld from it. They can file a joint return on the 1040 short form, to get the split-income benefit. But they can't file jointly on Form 1040-A.

Say that full tax had been withheld from Smith's income. He could file separately on form 1040-A, but she'd have to file separately on the 1040 short form. When they file separately like that they lose the benefit of splitting their income.

As for the 1040 short form—any married couple who had combined income under $5,000, but for some reason can't use Form 1040-A, can use the 1040 short form.

Any couple filing on Form 1040-A or the 1040 short form get a standard deduction of about 10 per cent of their income for personal expenses. They don't have to itemize it or even claim it. They're given it. It's already allowed for in the tax table used in figuring the tax on people using those two forms.

Most people's deductible expenses are actually less than 10 per cent of their income. But if yours were really more than 10 per cent, you'll lose money by using the 1040 short form or 1040-A.

Instead, use the 1040 long form. There you'll have to go to the trouble, which isn't much, of figuring your own tax. And you'll have to itemize every deduction you claim. But you then can claim your deductions in full. That's the only way you can claim them.

But suppose husband and wife had combined income under $5,000. And say one of them had deductible expenses that ran above 10 per cent, while the other didn't. How do they file?

If one partner in a marriage, where combined income was under $5,000, wants to claim more than the standard 10 per cent deduction, he or she must do so on the long form.

In such a case, can the other partner in the marriage use form 1040-A or the 1040 short form? No. When one uses the 1040 long form and itemizes, the other must use the 1040 long form and itemize, too.

If this applies to you, then you may be worth your while to figure your tax both ways—on long and short form—to see whether you come out ahead in using the long form. You can see why.

When one partner has more than 10 per cent in deductions and the other has much less—but the latter has to itemize and can't come close to 10 per cent in deductions—the couple may lose money on the deal.

Then there are couples whose individual incomes are under $5,000 but, combined, are over that figure.

If this applies to you, then yau can file separately on Form 1040-A (if you fit the rule for it) or separately on the 1040 short form, or you can file a joint return on the 1040 long form.

Any couple with a combined income of $5.000 or more and using the 1040 long form gets a standard deduction of 10 per cent of the combined income up to a maximum deduction of $1.000. If their deductions were more than 10 per cent, they must itemize all their deductions but can claim them in full.

Example: Jones had $4,000 income, his wife $2,000. If they file jointly on the 1040 long form their deduction is $600, or 10 per cent of $6,000.

Example: Smith had $10,000 income, his wife had $2,000. Total, $12,000. They file jointly on the 1040 long form. Since the standard maximum deduction is $1,000. That's all they get unless their deductions were more than that and they itemize.

Any time one partner in a marriage files separately on the 1040 long form, he gets a maximum standard deduction of $500. That's another reason why, in most cases, couples save money filing jointly.

Example: Jones had $10,000 income, his wife none. Since she had no income, his wife isn't compelled to file a return, although she can file jointly with her husband, if she wants to.

So say that in this case Jones alone files a return, on the 1040 long form. Even though his income was $10,000, he gets only a standard deduction of $500. But if his wife filed jointly with him, he'd get the standard maximum deduction of $1,000.

The rule is different with single people whose income was $5,000 or more and who use the 1040 long form. Without exemption, they get a standard deduction of 10 per cent of their income up to a maximum deduction of $1,000.

March Of Dimes Gets Anonymous $10

One of the few anonymous contributions to the March of Dimes arrived belatedly Saturday at City Auditor E. Allan McKeever's office.

It was two crisp new $5 bills, folded into two sheets of plain paper and mailed in an envelope without a return address.

Mr. McKeever, county chairman of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said it probably was the first donation without the contributor's name. Mailed in East Liverpool Friday night, the donation was marked simply: "For the March of Dimes".

Liquor Clerks Ask Raise

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12—Clerks in Ohio's liquor stores want a pay raise. Their starting pay now is $176 a month. Managers start at $300 a month.

A rally by union clerks will be held here next Sunday to muster support for a bill introduced by State Senator Mark McElroy (D) of Cuyahoga county. This bill calls for across-the-board raises of from $34 to $85 a month.

Dulles Denies U.S. Plans For Pacific Pact

Reports America Would Be Willing To Listen, However

MANILA, Feb. 12 (AP)—John Foster Dulles said today a Japanese peace treaty is linked closely with any proposal for a defense pact among the "offshore islands of Asia".

The U. S. is willing to listen sympathetically to plans for a Pacific pact similar to the North Atlantic treaty, said Mr. Dulles, U. S. ambassador at large, but it has no such proposal of its own.

He conferred with President Elpidio Quirino of the Philippines on the peace terms he outlined last week to Japanese leaders. He declined to comment on the talk.

The two may confer again before he leaves Tuesday night for Australia and New Zealand.

A major purpose of Mr. Dulles' visits is to sell them on the two most controversial points of the proposed peace treaty — Japan's role in the collective security arrangement and authorization for the Japanese to decide for themselves what occupation reforms they want to keep.

Mr. Dulles said the U. S. hopes to settle the terms of the treaty without any formal conference, except for the signing.

He labeled premature a press conference question on whether Japan would furnish manpower and materials if included in a Pacific defense pact against communism.

In Tokyo, Mr. Dulles had made it plain the U. S. does not expect Japan to be a passive bystander in Pacific defense plans. Tokyo statements by both Mr. Dulles and the Japanese government showed agreement that American power would guarantee Japan defense in the period immediately following the treaty. But the implication was that the Japanese eventually would have to raise some defensive force.

Mr. Dulles told his Manila press conference he still hopes the Soviet Union will sign the Japanese peace treaty. He added:

"I see no reason why Russia could not join if they mean all those declarations about wanting peace."

Wellsville Man Fined On Gambling Charge

One Wellsville man was fined $100 and costs today by Mayor C. C. Leatherberry on a gambling charge while another is scheduled to receive a hearing today.

William Wagoner, operator of a poolroom at Fourth and Main Sts., pleaded guilty. He was arrested Saturday afternoon at 4:30 when Acting Chief Harry Hurd raided a card game.

Police said Mona Corbisello, operator of a cigar store at 349 Main St, was arrested earlier Saturday when several punchboards were found on the counter.

Joe Barth of Wellsville was jailed Sunday morning when police found him in the council chambers of the City Hall. He was sent to the Mahoning County Jail in lieu of a fine of $50 for intoxication.

Chester Pupils Elect "Sweetheart Couple"

Marilyn Wilson and Ray Register were elected sweetheart couple at the Sweetheart Sock Dance attended by 150 Saturday night at Chester High School. It was sponsored by the Hi-Teen.

Spot dance winners were Carol Boyce and Bruce Hulse. Committee workers included Betty Jane Reed, Dick Bryan, Tom Simcox, Gayle Kennedy, Cynthia Boyce, Gary Gibbs, Bob McFarland, Ross Huffman, Edna Robinson, Shirley Louk and Principal R. M. McFarland.

Chaperones were Mrs. Merrill Miller and Mrs. Robert Hindes.

Cairo's Society Streams To Home Of Farouk's Love

CAIRO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Cairo's society—high and low—streamed last night and today to the home of beautiful 17-year-old Narriman Sadek to celebrate her engagement to Egypt's King Farouk.

The king and the royal family were guests of honor at a glittering reception, which also marked the ruler's 31st birthday yesterday.

Though news of the monarch's coming marriage was released to the foreign press Saturday night, Egyptians first read the tidings in their newspapers yesterday morning.

The announcement sent Cairo citizens trooping to the Sadek family villa in suburban Heliopolis to sign the official registers, one for men and another for women. Thus, according to Egyptian custom, they extended their best wishes to the king's fiancee.

(The engagement announcement finally took the wraps of official secrecy off the long-rumored romance reported to have blossomed more than a year ago when King Farouk saw Narriman shopping for an engagement ring with Zaki Hashem, a young Egyptian economist for the United Nations.)

University On Prowl For Bear Skeletons

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP) — The University of Illinois wants the people of the state to tell it about any skeletons they have in their closets.

To be specific, bear skeltons.

The university complained that, while black bears are reported to have been numerous in the state as late as 1800, there's hardly any thing to prove it.

So it wants state residents to come up with the remains of bears their grandfathers or great grandfathers shot, if they happen to have any around.

18 Are Hurt, Loss $125,000 In Ohio Fires

State Mental Hospital At Cambridge Among Spots Hit By Flames

By The Associated Press

Explosions and fires caused upwards of $125,000 damage in four Ohio communities over the week end and injured at least 18 persons. Two of the blasts occured Saturday night.

One ripped apart a wooden assembly building of Robbins & Myers, Inc., in Springfield, sending 18 persons to the hospital. Thirteen persons still are recovering today from effects of the blast, which blew out one wall and collapsed the building's roof.

Damage has been estimated at $5,000 to the building and at least that amount of contents. Those injured were attending a social meeting after working hours.

Firemen are investigating the possibility that a pocket of gas collected under the floor and was ignited accidentally.

The cause of a fire that did at least $50,000 damage to the Union Carbide Carbon Corp. Bakelite Plant near Marietta Saturday, has not been determined. No one was injured. Workmen said they heard a minor explosion and saw flames shoot 70 feet into the air. The fires started near a tank of benzine.

Another fire, the cause of which has not been determined, struck the state's mental hospital at Cambridge yesterday, destroying a building where a half-dozen doctors and supervisers lived. Superintendent Arthur T. Hopwood said damage will amount to $25,000.

No buildings housing patients were endangered.

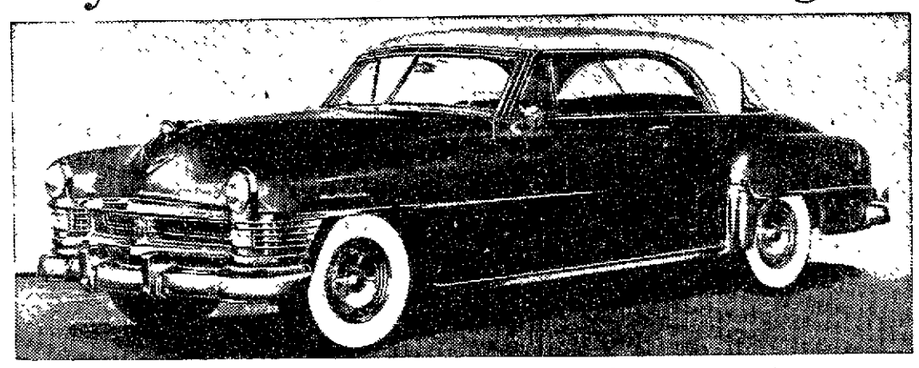
Still another fire last night destroyed a filling station in West Jefferson, 10 miles west of Columbus. Leonard Martin, owner of the station on U. S. Route 40, estimated damage may run as high as $50,000.

Salem Driver Fined

LISBON, Feb. 12—James Jarvis, 25, of Salem pleaded guilty to driving without an operator's permit and was fined $25 and costs Sunday night by Mayor Kenneth Hiscox. He was arrested earlier in the evening by the State Highway Patrol after he made a U-turn at Beaver and Washington Sts.

New Models On Display

Chrysler Has Powerful New Engine



Here's the Chrysler New Yorker with new 180-horsepower engine.

A NEW 180-horsepower V-8 engine, described as the most powerful passenger car power plant on today's market, is the central feature of the 1951 line of Chrysler cars, which went on display Saturday at Douglass Auto Sales, 550 Broadway.

Supplementing the mechanical improvements, the new Chrysler line has been completely restyled, inside and out.

Exterior styling changes include a new wide, sloping hood that helps to increase driver visibility, new front fenders, new front and rear ornamentation, new front and rear fender moldings, and a belt molding that now completely encircles the car.

The new wrap-around window is now used on all models, resulting in an increase of 201.7 square inches, or 30 per cent, in rear-window area as compared to 1950 models that did not have this feature.

In addition to the V-8 engine, other new features include better shock absorbers, improved steering mechanism, "Fluid Drive" torque converter, and air-cooled brakes on models using the disc-type brake.

The new V-8 engine will be installed in all New Yorker and Imperial models, while the power steering unit and torque converter will be standard in the two largest Imperials and available on all other cars powered by the new V-8 engine. The shock absorber is standard throughout the line.

The new engine, which is of the 90-degree, overhead-valve type, has a bore of 3 13/16 inches and a stroke of 3 5/8 inches, giving a piston displacement of 331.1 cubic inches.

Although its displacement is only 2.3 per cent greater than that of the in-line eight engine used in 1950 Chryslers, it develops 33 per cent more maximum horsepower and 16 per cent more maximum torque.

Weight of the complete engine with transmission has been decreased 8 per cent and fuel economy improved approximately 10 per cent. An excellent detonation-free performance is obtained with regular grades of commercial gasoline. The new design also produces remarkable freedom from deleterious deposits.

Fire Damages Attic Of Etruria St. Home

Fire blamed on a short circuit in an electric light badly damaged the attic at the home of Harry Wright, 1356 Etruria St., Saturday night, firemen reported.

Apparently started in a light in the second floor hallway, the flames spread through the ceiling and destroyed two rooms in the attic.

In addition to damage to the hallway, water damaged the ceiling and walls of the dining room and kitchen of the apartment William R. Davis occupies on the first floor.

The department investigated a report of a fallen electric line on West Eighth St. and Shadyside Ave. Saturday at 6:10 p. m. but found none.

Senators Probe Story Of 'Payoff' To Port

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP) —The Senate preparedness subcommittee is investigating a report that the port of Orange, Tex., paid "a Washington bureaucrat" to induce the Army to ship through the port.

Chairman Johnson (D) of Texas told a reporter today the group already has held one secret hearing on the charges, and plans others.

St. Clair CD Groups Schedule 4 Meetings

Four St. Clair township Civilian Defense organization meetings have been scheduled for the week.

'We Laid A China Egg,' Legion Chief Declares

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 12 (AP)—National Legion Commander Erle Cocke Jr. declared today the "pink cowards of procrastination we call our diplomats have laid a China egg" over the Korean issue.

Mr. Cocke, in an address for the Legion's annual program at Abraham Lincoln's tomb here, asserted that the State Department "not only should be reexamined, it must be reconstituted".

"From the very beginning of our present dilemma," he said, "our State Department has kept the American people in the dark with its double talk, its double dealing . . . and what looks today like a reasonable facsimile of an outright double cross."
